Bituminous Coal Miners Threaten General Strike

LABOR FILES OBJECTIONS TO NEW CODE

Labor Section Attacked at Discussions in Capitol Before Administrator

LEWIS MAKES THREAT

President of Mine Workers Ready to Break Negotiations, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(UP)—The threat of general strike by bituminous coal miners complicated discussion of a coal code today as organized labor vigorously opposed a re-written coal agreement presented to the national recovery administration by non-union operators.

Labor leaders began a determined attack on the labor section which they find objectionable. They were defeated over the weekend in an effort to exclude a similar provision from the automobile code.

Administrator Hugh S. Johnson sought to stifle the strike menace by summoning non-union operators and United Mine Workers officials for a continuation of conferences begun last week. President John L. Lewis of the Mine Workers has threatened Johnson with rupture of negotiations and an appeal to the country. Lewis frequently has said labor was prepared to use force if necessary to make secure the rights it felt were guaranteed by the National Recovery Act.

Weakens Drive

The coal code problem weakens the impetus of the drive which began today to place employers 100 per cent behind the recovery program by Labor Day. More than 1,500,000 volunteer workers began soliciting enlistments after Recovery Administrator Johnson had appealed in a national address last night to keep the blue eagle's wings clean and talons sharp. Johnson specifically told the volunteers to avoid the implications of boycott against recalcitrant employers.

But the administrator insisted that the American people were within their rights in any determination to deal only with those firms which display the blue eagle insignia of cooperation.

The NRA labor advisory board is determined to make a fighting issue of the new labor clause, which is cropping up in code after code.

POLITICAL INDEPENDENCE OF AUSTRIA ASSURED BY FRANCE

CURRENCY TAX SUGGESTED BY JOHNSON AIDE

Plan Proposed as Means to Force Spending of Money by People

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Taxation of money to force people to spend it is proposed by Dr. Arthur Dahlberg, PH. D., a research fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

Dahlberg was drafted from his studies and made an assistant to Dr. Alexander Sachs, PH. D., head of the division of planning and research under Gen. Hugh Johnson. Dahlberg believes his plan would wipe out every evil in the American economic system.

A tax on bank deposits and currency is the basis of Dahlberg's proposal. His proposal for a tax on currency is radically novel and would necessitate the printing of new currency each month. The currency of the preceding month would deteriorate in value at the store and bank and eventually would be absolutely worthless.

Every month the currency will be of a new color, red, blue, yellow, green and so on, like baseball tickets, so the storekeepers will know by the hue whether the dollar you hand him is worth 95 cents or 89 cents. If the dollar is old and frayed, he may have to look up in the book to make sure whether it is a 58 or 59-cent dollar.

Dr. Dahlberg's report has been submitted to Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant Secretary of Agriculture, who probably will be accepted now as the head of the Roosevelt brain trust, since Prof. Raymond Moley has resigned.

"Suppose," says the doctor in his report, "that we set up a mechanism for reducing by, say 1-4 per cent, 1-2 per cent, or 1 per cent monthly, the value of all money—both paper currency and bank deposits—still in the hands of our American people at the end of each month."

But the administrator insisted that the American people were within their rights in any determination to deal only with those firms which display the blue eagle insignia of cooperation.

The NRA labor advisory board is determined to make a fighting issue of the new labor clause, which is cropping up in code after code.

"PENNY FOR JIMMY" PHRASE THREATENS ROLPH'S CAREER

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Four little words—"A penny for Jimmy"—pack such potentialities that they threaten the political life of one of the most colorful of public figures, "Sunny Jim" Rolph, governor of California.

Rolph himself is aware of the power of these words. He openly views with alarm their spread throughout the length and the breadth of the Golden State. He sees in them a dastardly political plot engineered by his enemies.

The "whispering campaign"—the phrase is Rolph's own—started when the new state sales tax became effective August 1. It imposes a 2 1/2 per cent levy on retail sales of food, clothing, automobiles, cigarettes and all other "tangible personal property." Its purpose is to meet a state governmental deficit.

Rolph himself fought against the sales tax plan. He proposed instead transfer of highway department funds to other state operating bureaus for a two-year period. When he signed the bill imposing the tax, he reiterated his opposition but said there was nothing else he could do.

Daladier On Inspection Of Defenses

Premier Issues Statement of French Policy Before Starting Trip

PARIS, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Premier Edouard Daladier, on a tour of inspection of the new "great wall" of defenses believed impregnable, served notice today that France was determined to guarantee Austria's political and economic independence.

As he left Paris to motor to Metz, and thence to inspect the new fortifications along the frontier, Daladier made a plain statement of French policy to the United Press.

"I am examining the new defenses personally," he said, "to make sure that our defensive system is of the fullest efficiency."

"We want only peace and order. No victorious people, after such a long and cruel war as that of 1918 ever made so many sacrifices afterward as has France, due to her policy of European conciliation."

"It is our duty to assure our liberty, which is respected because we are known to be capable of defending it."

"We should also see that the decisions of the regular organs of European life, such as the League of Nations and the World Court at the Hague, are respected."

"Notably, they have proclaimed and defined the political independence of Austria, which we have determined to guarantee."

"The smaller and less populated European state have the same right to a free life as states that exceed them in population."

The premier's statement, covering as it did France's Balkan satellites as well as Austria, was made at a significant time.

It was the first official inspection of the new frontier fortifications, of almost fanciful immensity. They are a system of fortresses with great central fortifications and flying bases linked by machine gun pill boxes, cemented trench works. Artillery emplacements and underground strongholds where great bodies of men can take shelter in safety from the most intense bombardment of modern artillery. They extend from Calais, on the northwest corner of France, all around the country to the Mediterranean sea.

MOLEY RESIGNS AS ASSISTANT SECY. OF STATE

Will Accept Editorship of Political Magazine to Be Issued Weekly

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt reached the parting of the ways today with Prof. Raymond Moley, key man of the celebrated "brain trust," who is credited with originating much of the program of the new deal.

Moley's reason for resigning as assistant secretary of state was given as his desire to accept the editorship of a new national weekly magazine to be issued by Vincent Astor, a close friend of the President. Political observers immediately interpreted it as a necessary move to keep peace in the President's official family. Moley is known to have disagreed on matters of policy with his immediate superior, Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The resignation led immediately to a renewal of persistent reports that Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin planned to resign. Woodin has been away from his office for weeks because of illness, and the recent revelation that his name was on the "preferred customers list" of J. P. Morgan brought criticisms from various congressmen.

Mr. Roosevelt's parting with the man who had been so close to him that he was often referred to as "Assistant President," was cordial. Moley resigned, effective September 7, affirming his faith in the President and his program. Mr. Roosevelt accepted his resignation, pledging his continued friendship. The President's letter of acceptance bore this salutation: "Dear Raymond."

Moley's letter of resignation and the President's letter of acceptance were made public at the summer White House yesterday after a conference among Mr. Roosevelt, Moley, Astor and Stephen T. Early, the President's assistant secretary.

The magazine backed by Astor is to be "an adventure in independent political journalism," Astor said. The publication will be essentially political, concentrating on interpretation of government and the new deal.

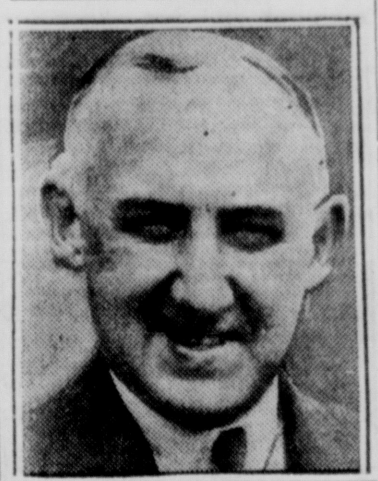

"I pledge you my active and continued support of the ideals to which you have given such hopeful and auspicious realization," Moley told the President.

Moley's differences with Hull first became apparent at the London economic conference. Moley espoused the cause of economic nationalism, while Hull is a thorough internationalist, believing in world cooperation and the elimination of trade barriers.

Moley suddenly was switched from the state department to the

FLOODS SWEEP ACROSS INDIA AS DAM BURSTS

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Northern India was threatened with disastrous floods today when a gigantic volume of water was released into the Shyok and Indus rivers by the bursting of the great ice barrier known as the Shyok dam, in the Himalayas.

The Shyok ice dam is 450 feet high. It was formed in 1926, when the Khumond glacier pushed its way across a mountain gorge near the sources of the Shyok river and formed an ice barrier. Two years later, when last its volume was measured, the lake above the dam had become 9 miles long, 1000 yards wide and 25 feet deep.

At that time a crack developed in the dam. Villagers below were evacuated, but there was nothing further than a slight leakage through the crack.

The Shyok river rises near the great Karakoram pass in Kashmir, in far northern India. It is formed of two mountain streams that twist about from their sources 20,000 feet in the mountains seeking a way to the sea.

Flowing first south, the Shyok finds a mountain trough and flows northward, then bends sharply and joins the great Indus.

The Indus flows northward, then westward, then southward along the border of the northwest frontier province and the Punjab, through the Punjab and into the sea at Karachi.

Millions live in the Indus valley.

Campaign Carries President's Plea for Co-operation to Front Door

SANTA ANA is responding almost 100 per cent to the call of President Roosevelt for co-operation in making the National Recovery Administration program a success. Reports of the almost unanimous response to the appeal for co-operation was made at noon today by Jules Markel, in charge of the Santa Ana campaign.

Markel said that at noon approximately half the city had been canvassed by workers in the drive. There are 71 precincts in the city, and at the time Markel said that more than 30 precincts had been canvassed, the workers reported and been released.

This campaign is carrying President Roosevelt's plea for co-operation right up to the front door of every resident in the city, Markel said. Householders are being asked to sign Consumer cards agreeing to co-operate with the administration through patronizing only those merchants who display the "Blue Eagle" in their places of business.

Markel said that, with half the city already canvassed, workers have found but four households where co-operation was refused. He said that people interviewed at these houses refused to sign the cards and said that they "intended to trade where prices were the lowest, regardless of whether

DIVIDEND PAID TO BANK DEPOSITORS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 28.—(UP)—Comptroller's checks totaling $1,500,000 today were handed to approximately 8,000 depositors of the defunct California National bank in payment of the institution's first dividend since its closing last January.

The checks represented 20 per cent of the depositors' funds tied up by the closing and covers claims filed against the bank up to July 20. Payments to those who filed claims after that date are expected to be made in the near future.

Meantime, stockholders of the bank continued to discuss reorganization measures and announced they would submit another plan for approval of the comptroller and the institution's depositors.

WASHINGTON VOTES TUESDAY ON REPEAL

OLYMPIA, Wash., Aug. 28.—(UP)—Washington will vote tomorrow on repeal of national prohibition. Many dries conceded today that the state will be the 24th to ratify the 21st amendment.

Under the law there will be no direct popular vote on repeal. Voters will vote for a designated number of delegates, corresponding to the representation in each district in the lower house of the legislature. There are 46 districts.

Each candidate for delegate has pledged himself to vote "wet" or "dry," at the convention October 3, hence the number of votes cast for "wet" delegates will constitute the repeal vote, and the number cast for "dry" delegates, will be the vote against repeal.

The Reasons One Should Buy Now

(An Editorial)

If ever there was or will be a time to buy, and not to sell, that time is now. It doesn't make any difference whether you are buying pins, soup, stocks, land, or lemons, of one thing you can be certain, with the program of the government, and with the sentiment of this country running the way it is, money is going to be cheaper and goods dearer from now on.

Through our national Chief Executive, together with all of his advisers, the members of Congress, and under the leadership of Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, money is going to be forced from the pockets of those who have it into property. The United States is just as wealthy as it ever was. Look around you! There are the same buildings, the same factories, the same machines, the same farms, the same productivity, the same intelligent, physically able and mentally alert people—the wealth is all here.

But the people became frightened at real wealth, and turned to simply the means of exchange, the fictitious part. The currency, which you can neither eat nor wear nor sleep and from which you can not get shelter, has been considered of value, and the real values have dwindled.

There is a change on because one form or another of expansion is going to take place that will cause people to see that this money, after all, is only a medium of exchange. Already prices are rising, owing to the action that our Chief Executive has already taken.

Today it was proposed by one of his close advisers that all money be taxed, so as to compel people to use money, realizing that money in use is the only money of value. And this will compel use and immediately you will see people drawing money out of the bank and putting it in real values and permanent values. They will do so because they will see that their capital will soon be dissipated.

Or the inflation may take the form of the purchase of bonds with treasury certificates, thereby saving the government interest, and forcing money into the hands of present bondholders, who in turn must use the money in some direction. You who have $10,000 or $25,000 or $50,000, or whatever amount, in the bank today, can count upon it that as the days go on, additional methods will be used to make that money more valueless, and property more valuable, and you can buy today with your money, more than you are going to be able to buy 30 days from now or 60 days from now or 90 days from now.

Already people, with money in the bank, are beginning to realize that this thing is taking place, and is going to take place to a greater degree continually. The wise man is the man who gets his money in circulation. This is not necessarily hostile to the idea of thrift. It was never conceived by the intelligent people who suggested and taught "thrift," that money itself would be of value. But it was simply the idea of investing it in something, so that the increase would bring reward.

Money itself cannot bring increase. Increase must come from digging it from the mine, or digging it from the soil, or applying the power and the brain of man to the machine. Man connected with a pile of money, and money alone, cannot, by any honest method, increase the amount of it, or cannot produce anything from it. By investing that money in a pile of dirt, he can grow turnips and cabbage and melons and oranges or get oil or whatever may be in or under the soil. The people are beginning to learn the facts of economics. Some have foolishly hoarded money, and so many of them have done it, with the false conception of what money is, that society is compelled to use laws to make them invest this money in the wealth of the nation.

The man with a farm or a factory or owning anything as a means of production, is contributing to the wealth of the world. The man who owns nothing but money is making no contribution, and the government is forced, by the economic conditions, to reward him who is serving society, and penalize him who is not. So that money, through one process or another, will become cheaper and cheaper in the hands of those who have it, and property values, that are really able to produce, will be of increasing value in the hands of those who possess them.

The time, therefore, to spend your money for real values is now, before they rise further, which they are certain to do.

PLAN AUTOPSY TO FIND DEATH CAUSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—(UP)—An autopsy was performed today on the body of Dr. Hans Gessner, 40, to determine whether he was a martyr to science, an experimenter with dangerous dinalitt ropenoid, which "burns off fat."

Friends of Gessner said he had been experimenting with the drug, Stanford university hospital physicians here, Drs. M. L. Tainter and Cutting.

Gessner, a registered physician educated in Vienna, was found in his Y. M. C. A. room with a high fever. He complained of intense heart pains. He allegedly told the doctor he summoned he had taken a second dose of the "anti-fat remedy."

ZIONIST CONGRESS PLANS FOR PROBE

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 28.—(UP)—A charge that Jewish fascists were using terrorism in Palestine caused the general council of the Zionist congress, after a dramatic all night session, to appoint a special investigating committee today.

The committee will go to Palestine to determine the truth of the charge.

During the all night session, the council examined material contained in a telegram sent to it from Palestine. Such bad feeling has been caused by the revisionist labor dispute that labor men refused to serve on the presidium if revisionists were represented.

The revisionists are for an all-Jewish Palestine.

X-RAY EXPERT QUESTIONED IN LAMSON TRIAL

Robert R. Syer called court to order.

Standing beside a large floodlight, Dr. Bowers explained the pictures showing the fractures on Mrs. Lamson's skull. Autopsy surgeons testified the fractures could have been caused by blows inflicted "with very great force" or by a fall.

Answers by preceding witnesses substantiated rival claims of the state and the defense. The prosecution alleges Lamson beat his wife to death in their home on the Stanford university campus Memorial day. The defense is expected to present a story that she died from a fall. The jury may visit the bathroom in which her body was found.

Incidents of the excited moments after the defendant ran to the front door, shouting, "My wife has been murdered," were described by Mrs. L. M. Place, a Palo Alto real estate agent, who brought several clients to the Lamson home.

She found Lamson, stripped to the waist, cleaning up the rear yard. At her request he entered the home to admit her and a prospective tenant at the front door.

The defendant at this time wore a shirt or a sweater, on which there was blood, the witness testified. There also was blood on his hands and face.

Mrs. Place entered the home and telephoned Dr. Margaret Lamson, the defendant's sister. During this time Lamson paced up and down the living room "calling to his wife in very endearing terms" and telling the visitor "to get the police," she testified.

"Did you see any tears?" the examining attorney asked.

"I don't remember any tears," she replied.

Lamson took her to the bathroom, where she saw an arm hanging over the rim of the tub. There were "bloody tracks in the hall and living room," Mrs. Place said.

"PENNY FOR JIMMY" PHRASE THREATENS ROLPH'S CAREER

But Mr. Average Citizen, digging down into his pockets for the few pennies he pays on almost every purchase, immediately connected the tax with the governor.

Men buying cigars were heard to say: "Here's a penny for Jimmy."

Clerks mentioning the price of groceries began saying: "And add a penny for Jimmy." In the special election last June the voters of the state adopted the Riley plan, extending the taxing powers of the state.

Buried deep in the wordage outlining the plan was a provision making a sales tax permissible. But this referendum was not recalled as the tax payers handed over one or two cents on every small purchase. "A penny for Jimmy," it meant to them.

When the phrase reached the ears of the four-times mayor of San Francisco, the man who built a great city from the ruins of fire and earthquake, "Sunny Jim" was not so sunny.

"Don't ask me about the sales tax. I didn't want it. I opposed it," he shouted.

He sought to shift the blame on his political opponent, Lieutenant Governor Frank Merriam. Both men have been mentioned as probable candidates for the governorship in 1934. The "whispering campaign" Rolph alleges exists as a precursor of that fight for the governor's chair.

Cruising about the state in his plane, Rolph strove mightily to undo the effects of those four little words. He paraded in an overseas cap with World war veterans and marched with Spanish American war survivors. He wielded a spade; he delivered an address; he threw the first ball in a juvenile championship ball game; and he celebrated his 64th birthday. All this in the short space of a week.

At its conclusion Rolph announced he was confident the campaign against him was "dwindling."

But the four little words—"A penny for Jimmy"—continued to be heard on all sides.

TWO DRIVERS ARRESTED ON DRUNK CHARGES

Six traffic accidents in Orange County over the week end resulted in injuries to 15 persons. It was revealed by a check today of police records.

The most serious wreck happened at the intersection of Fairhaven and Hewes roads when cars driven by Le Roy Sawyer, 24, 714 West Second street and Vern Barger, 57, 878 North Glassell street, Orange, collided. John Stevens, 31, 1120 West Fifth street, is in the Orange County hospital with a fractured collar bone and Marvett Dill, 7, 634 Riverline, is confined with a badly injured hand.

First aid treatment was given at the hospital to Mrs. Lottie Dill, 27, who received lacerations on the leg, arm and face and Sawyer, who was badly bruised and suffered rib injuries. Others hurt in the accident were Otis Dill, 4, Viola McIntyre, 26, 634 Riverline and Buddy McIntyre, 7.

Sawyer's car, traveling east on Fairhaven avenue, was sideswiped by the Barger machine and both cars turned over. The Barger car skidded 80 feet before hitting the other vehicle, according to police reports.

Four persons were injured, three seriously, when a car driven by G. G. Priddy, 52, Cypress, collided with a machine driven by Henry Arriola, 24, 612 East Chautness street, Anaheim, on the Olive-Anaheim road near Rio Vista road at 11 p. m. Saturday. Arriola may lose the sight of his eye and is being treated for severe cuts and bruises at the Orange County hospital.

Priddy and E. L. Harter, 45, 2836 North Beachwood, Hollywood, were taken to the Anaheim Sanitarium for first aid treatment after the wreck while N. E. Whitacre, 26, Hollywood, was bruised and shaken up.

Police reports show that Arriola was driving on the wrong side of the road and had been drinking. He is being held in custody at the hospital by police until his condition is improved.

Thomas Douglas, 23, has been charged with drunk driving and is being held in the county jail under $500 bail until his preliminary hearing on September 2 following a spectacular accident at 1 a. m. yesterday at Washington and Main streets, in which Arthur Porter, 105 Berkeley street, was injured. Douglas, driving south on Main street at a high rate of speed, struck a city trash truck driven by V. E. Downs, 30, 1027 West Chestnut street, as it was turning south on Main street from Washington.

Skids 200 Feet

The Douglas sedan struck the truck, whirled around against a telephone pole, skidded backwards for more than 200 feet and struck another pole near the corner of Twelfth street. Porter, riding with Douglas, was cut by flying glass and was given first aid treatment at the Santa Ana Valley hospital. The trash truck was badly damaged but neither Downs nor Charles Seebor, riding on the truck, were injured.

Douglas was booked at the county jail and arranged this morning for drunk driving in justice court. Elwanda Johnston, 7, Irvine station, received an injured leg Saturday at 7:30 p. m., when she was struck at First and Broadway by a car driven by Nicolas Licorio, 27, 610 North Daley street. The girl was walking across the street when struck by the car.

Mrs. M. R. Kincaid and Daniel Sanborn, 17, Redlands, were slightly cut and bruised at 4:30 p. m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding overturned after an accident at McFadden and Tus-tin streets. John Wyne, Ritchey street, Tustin, driving east on McFadden street, made the boulevard stop at Tustin road and was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Margaret Sanborn, Redlands, as he drove across the highway.

A glaring sun blinded Wyne and he did not see the approaching car, reports stated. The Sanborn car overturned into a ditch but the woman and boy only received slight injuries.

No one was hurt Saturday at 7:15 p. m. when a truck driven by Clyde Frank Payne, 17, 524 North Greenleaf, La Habra, was struck by a car driven by Dean Love, 42, 726 North Clementine, Anaheim, at Lincoln and Hansen roads.

DENVER, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Snow, rain, hail and floods in Colorado and other mountain states caused thousands of dollars of damage today, marooned scores of vacationists on mountain passes, threatened to flood small streams.

Dozens of motorists were marooned on Milner pass near Estes park when four inches of snow fell over the area. Traffic was resumed however.

Trains arrived in Denver from the east as much as 12 hours late after washouts in Kansas.

FOUR KILLED OVER WEEKEND IN NORTH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 28.—(UP)—Four persons were killed and 21 injured in a series of traffic accidents near Sacramento over the week end.

John Colby, 31, Clarksburg truck line operator, was killed when his car plunged from the highway into a ditch between Sacramento and Freepert.

Fred Kennedy, 51, and Mrs. A. H. Tucker, 41, died when an automobile driven by the woman's husband, U. H. Tucker, left the road near Placerville and rolled down a steep embankment.

Howell J. Baughn, 19, Roseville, Sacramento junior college student, was killed when his motorcycle overturned near Del Paso.

The 21 persons injured in numerous other crashes were treated for minor cuts and bruises.

CURRENCY TAX SUGGESTED BY JOHNSON AIDE

of each month.

"At the beginning of every month new currency of a different color, and dated with the month and year, is made available at the banks. These bills would be the only paper currency accepted at par during the coming month. The paper currency of the preceding month would now, on the basis of a 1 per cent monthly forfeit, be worth only 99 cents on the dollar when it is exchanged at the bank. Currency two months old would only be worth 98 cents on the dollar, etc.

"Suppose that John Jones on January 1 has $30 in January currency and $3 in metallic change in his pocket; that he also has a deposit of $1000 in his bank. Then under our scheme, if John Jones has not spent his $30 worth of currency by the first of February, he knows that the bank will give him only $29.70 worth of February money for his January currency. Retailers, too, will discount its worth. January money may be reg and February may be blue, so that retailers will readily notice the age and issue of the paper."

On the matter of John Jones' $1000 in the bank, the Dahlberg report says:

"The government needs simply instruct the banks to deduct say 1 per cent from the balances of all its depositors at the end of every month when the monthly statements are made up. This 1 per cent, the banks could be directed to credit to the account of the United States government."

"These sums would, of course, provide a nice revenue. Bank deposits in 1928 were about $35,000,000,000; in 1932, about $45,000,000,000; a drastic monthly tax of 1 per cent on such sums would net the government between $5,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 annually. Such revenues would run the government."

Returning to John Jones' $1000

in the bank, Dr. Dahlberg points out:

"The penalty for one year for not spending his $1000 turns out to be $112.86. Can you conceive of Jones, or anyone else, not spending under such conditions? Everyone would practically be forced to buy goods, services or plant, as soon as he received his money income."

"And therein lies the virtue of this plan. It would obtain the same result as shortening the hours of labor in the one respect that it would facilitate spending. In the one case huge incomes would be forced into action and perhaps into being foolishly used by the rich."

"In the other, income would be diverted to those who would all too willingly spend it rationally without any forcing. In both cases income would be quickly spent in hiring labor; it could not feasibly be left in the form of an unexercised command over labor."

Anticipating protests that people will not be able to save for a rainy day, Dr. Dahlberg says, yes, they could. He would advise John Jones to invest his $1000 in real estate. By selling the real estate, he could cash in at any time.

MINE WORKERS IN OBJECTION TO COAL CODE

In the form it is now written into the coal code it gives employers the "right to hire, discharge, promote and demote employees on the basis of individual merit, without regard to their membership or non-membership in any organization."

Leaders Disturbed

Labor leaders declare a provision of this sort gives employers the opportunity unjustly to dismiss union workers on the ground of inefficiency. They consented to inclusion of a similar clause in the automobile code only on the understanding that it would not be taken as a precedent in the writing of other codes.

John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W., and other labor

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 28. (To the Editor of The Register:) Helen Willis Moody, congratulations. I don't believe the Armistice got as much publicity. And poor Texas, they would be unfortunate enough to have their prohibition election on the same day Helen was losing her championship, so it will be Tuesday or Wednesday before we hear what happened down there. Disruption of the present negotiations would bring these troubles to a showdown and lead to spread of discontent throughout the coal fields.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Life is over-crowded nowadays. Anxiety and irritation, added to the constant rush of modern life, over-stimulate your emotions, sap your vitality and lower your efficiency.
No one else can help you much. You must seek more quiet, contemplative, recreative hours to insulate your being from the nerve-shocks which would destroy your peace and peace. Calmness and power to bear your burdens courageously will come when you "learn to be still."

CONFERENCE ON MATTER HELD TODAY IN L. A.

With Orange county facing the loss of a huge sum in federal relief money under the proposed budget of the state highway commission, Supervisor W. C. Jerome of the First district is in Los Angeles today attending a conference with Earl Lee Kelly, state director of public works.

The session is being held in the Los Angeles city hall, with state and county officials making formal complaint of the loss of relief funds through the proposed allocation plan of the highway commission. Kelly was designated by Gov. James Rolph Jr. to represent the state at the parley.

Jerome has pointed out that the highway commission budget for the ensuing biennium includes the $458,300 of $15,604,324 for relief activities.

The county's share, according to the proposed budget of the highway commission, would amount to $458,300. Jerome, protesting on behalf of Orange county, will point out that of this amount $350,000 would be returned to the county in any event. The return would be through gasoline tax and other scheduled revenues.

Basing his statement on the fact that Orange county's allocation of $458,300 represents 1.5 per cent of the total state highway budget which includes the federal appropriations, and that with a population of 118,674, the county has 2.09 per cent of the population of the state, Jerome contends that the allocation is not within either the spirit or letter of the act enabling the federal appropriation for relief. The act specifies that the relief fund shall be apportioned on a basis of population and need. He will point out at the meeting today that only $52,000 of the sum allocated to Orange county could possibly qualify as federal relief money.

At the hearing today Kelly will be informed by Los Angeles city and county officials and Jerome that the government in appropriating the money specified that in selecting counties to which projects are to be allocated consideration shall be given the relative need for employment in such counties. It is charged that the state highway commission ignored the percentage of population, assessed valuation, registration of motor vehicles or the vehicle tax money collected from counties in making allocations. Governor Rolph is being asked to instruct the highway commission to immediately reallocate the federal relief fund on a basis in keeping with the local unemployment situation.

Motor Cops Offer Blood To Son Of Mission Justice

The duties of a California Highway Patrolman are quite varied but one of the strangest requests happened yesterday when every man of the Orange county squad was called from duty to take blood tests and stand ready to offer blood transfusions to Charles Landell, 27, son of Judge John Landell, San Juan Capistrano, who was confined in the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

Landell was in the hospital for a minor operation on his nose but had four hemorrhages and was greatly weakened by the loss of blood. Landell's brother-in-law, Richard Reid, and only three of 17 officers had blood which correspond to that of Landell so Reid was chosen to give the first transfusion. Patrolmen Ernest Sawyer, Vernon Barnhill and George Peterkin will be called upon if necessary but it was reported this morning that Landell was out of danger and would probably not need any more blood.

NEW VERSION OF FIGHT TOLD DURING TRIAL

Accused of assault with a deadly weapon, Justo Cruz took the witness stand this morning in department three, superior court, and told of the fight he had with Tranquilina Rivert and Saturnino Bermudez. Cruz claimed that he entered the fight to defend his brother Jesus who had been attacked by Rivera and Bermudez.

Cruz, questioned by his attorney, W. M. Burke, told Judge G. K. Seovel and members of the jury, how he entered the fight to assist his brother and felled Bermudez with a blow. Rivera, he testified, attacked him with a knife and slashed him in the shoulder and across the stomach. After the knife attack, Cruz said, he fled with Rivera in pursuit. Nearing his home he tore a picket from a fence and faced Rivera who turned and departed. Cruz said he then started to search for his brother who had been wounded during the battle. As Cruz approached the Bermudez home, according to his story, Rivera again attacked him with a knife and Cruz struck him twice with the board. Cruz said that Rivera fell and admitted striking him while he lay on the ground.

DEATH CLAIMS BURGLARY AT SECOND VICTIM GARAGE NETS OF AUTO CRASH $175 FOR THIEF

Severe injuries received in an automobile collision near Anaheim Thursday night proved fatal for Rawliss Barnes, 32, 1015 Lowell street, who died yesterday afternoon at the Anaheim Sanitarium, bringing the toll of the wreck to two and a total of 29 deaths from traffic accidents in the county for the year.

Barnes was fatally injured in the wreck which claimed the life of his wife, Mrs. Erna Barnes, 31, and which seriously injured Mr. and Mrs. Major Anderson, 2415 Heliotrope drive, Santa Ana. Anderson was discharged from the sanitarium yesterday while his wife is reported in an improved condition. She is suffering from four broken ribs, a broken jaw and cuts and bruises.

Coroner Earl Abbey conducted an inquest over the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Barnes at 2 p. m. today from the Backs, Terry and Campbell mortuary in Anaheim. Funeral arrangements for the well-known Santa Ana couple will not be made until the arrival of two sisters of Barnes from St. Louis.

Barnes, who was a service man connected with the George Belsey electric refrigerator agency in Santa Ana, received a skull fracture, compound fracture of the leg, fractured left shoulder and internal injuries. He was in a semi-conscious condition up to the time of his death.

The crash occurred at 11 p. m. Thursday at the intersection of Euclid and La Palma roads west of Anaheim. According to police reports, Anderson failed to make a boulevard stop and his car was struck by a machine driven by Harold Curtis, Fullerton. Although the Anderson car did not overturn, Barnes and Anderson were thrown from the car while it was careening 40 feet into a walnut grove. Their wives were pinned in the car. The Curtis machine overturned in the intersection with Curtis escaping uninjured and his wife receiving slight cuts on the legs.

Local Briefs

Ed Cletro, young son of Mrs. Marian Gibbons, Silverado canyon, was treated at the Orange County hospital yesterday afternoon for lacerations on the face and forehead received in a fall at his home. He was given first aid treatment and taken home.

Mrs. G. P. Putnam, 502 Normandy place, today received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Hattie Fluck, at North English, Iowa. Mrs. Fluck had visited here frequently and had many Santa Ana friends.

Marianne Orton, 20, of Fullerton, and Herbert A. van der Groot, 24, of Glendora, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Dentist Learns Of Gold Theft By Story In Paper

When two dental gold burglars held by police said they robbed a Santa Ana dentist's office on August 14, but couldn't remember where it was located, a story in The Register caused Dr. L. L. Whitson, 410 First National Bank building, to check up his supplies and discover $35 worth of gold missing.

Since Dr. Whitson's office corresponds exactly to the description given by Murray McQueen, held in Santa Ana, and Joseph Buchalter, under arrest by Los Angeles police, there is little doubt that the confessed burglars robbed his office as well as that of Dr. A. B. Smith, 1081-1/2 East Fourth street, for which theft McQueen was arrested.

McQueen was arrested on August 14 on a Los Angeles bond street car, and denied all knowledge of the burglaries at the time. When Buchalter was arrested and implicated McQueen, however, a complete confession was secured by Sergeant C. W. Wolford, who is in charge of the case. McQueen has decided to change his plea to guilty when brought into superior court, officers report. He was bound over by Judge Chris P. Pann last week.

SEEK INJUNCTION TO POSTPONE SALE

Preliminary injunction restraining the sale of property ordered for September 5, court instruction to the defendant ordering an 18 months extension in time to pay a $14,000 note and an order restraining declaration of the note in default before February 11, 1935 or sale of the property before that date is sought in a suit filed in superior court by the York company of Laguna Beach. The suit names William E. Gibbs, Mrs. Jessemyne J. Gibbs and the Orange County Title Company as defendants.

The complaint alleges that at the time the note was executed the property was worth in excess of the $14,000 loaned but because of the business depression, sale at this time would not bring the amount of the loan. It also declared that if the note is extended for 18 months the property probably could be sold for $20,000.

HITCHCOCK OUT OF U. S. POLO MATCHES

PORT WASHINGTON, N. Y., Aug. 28 — (UP) — Thomas Hitchcock Jr., the world's only 10-goal polo player, is out of the game for the rest of the season because of a brain concussion suffered in a fall during the East-West matches at Chicago.

His physician ordered him to bed for 10 days and overruled his entrance in the National Open championship which starts next month at Meadowbrook.

PRINCIPALS IN DAMAGE TRIAL ASK $23,737

Trial of the damage suit of Mrs. Parrie Salter who is seeking $11,500 damages from Claude A. Shafer for injuries received on April 17, last, in an automobile accident near Anaheim, started this morning in department two, superior court before Judge James L. Allen. Shafer has filed a cross-complaint demanding damages amounting to $11,837.50.

Mrs. Salter alleged in her complaint that due to Shafer's reckless driving his automobile collided with her car at the intersection of Magnolia and Crescent avenues west of Anaheim. She was thrown from the car and sustained injuries that according to her allegation resulted in the permanent impairment of the use of her right leg, permanently affected her right lung and caused her to be constantly afflicted with head noises and dizziness. She is demanding $10,000 actual and $1,800 special damages.

In his answer to the complaint Shafer denied responsibility for the crash and accused Mrs. Salter of contributory negligence. He filed a cross complaint for $11,837.50 alleging that Mrs. Salter operated her automobile in a reckless manner and was responsible for the crash which caused his automobile to turn over. Shafer charged that his collarbone was broken in two places permanently affecting the use of his right arm and that he received other injuries necessitating a nine day stay in the hospital and made it impossible for him to work for two months after the crash. He is asking for $10,000 actual and $1,837.50 special damages.

KREG BRIDGE TOURNAMENT WILL OPEN TUESDAY

Tomorrow night at the Santa Ana Country club the first round of radio station KREG's Amateur Contract Bridge Tournament is to be held. Over the week end many who were undecided about entering sent in their names, according to Dorris Walsh, one of the tournament directors. Studio officials have made arrangements so that entries may be made as late as eight o'clock Tuesday evening, so all who desire may still enter.

From Placentia, a large group recently has entered. Practically all are followers of Mrs. J. W. Bennis, the Culbertson instructor and quite enthusiastic about contract.

Other recent entries are as follows: A. T. Crawford and Don R. Park, Santa Ana; Mrs. Emma Curtin, Misses Harriet and Margaret Walker, of Torba Linda; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lipps, of Placentia; Mr. and Mrs. Rolfe W. Walling and Mr. and Mrs. Alston J. Wilson, of La Habra.

More than 30 tables will play in Santa Ana the first evening and more are expected in Fullerton, according to studio officials.

Laguna Beach is expected to have more than at either of the other two locations as there is great interest in contract bridge in the beach city.

The Venus flytrap is not the only plant which catches and eats insects; the tassel, sarraenia and nepenthes are among the other plants which do so.

ARREST 4 OVER WEEKEND FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Ten men, all charged with violations of liquor laws, were booked at the county jail over the week end by Orange county officers and another is confined in the Orange County hospital. Four were booked for driving while drunk.

Thomas Douglas, 23, 1121 South Main street, was arrested for driving drunk early Sunday morning after he crashed into a city trash truck at Washington and Main streets. Arthur Porter, 105 East Berkeley street, riding with him, was treated at the Santa Ana Valley hospital for face lacerations.

Ernest Gracian, 33, Tustin, charged with drunk driving and Clarence Brady, 45, 629 Garfield street, charged with drunkenness, were arrested yesterday afternoon near McFadden and Ritchie streets by Deputy Sheriffs Art Ellis, E. E. Perry and Fred Humiston. The officers were called to take care of a man lying in an orange grove apparently dead, but found Hugh Galloway in an unconscious condition from drinking. While they were waiting for an ambulance to come, Gracian and Brady drove up and were promptly arrested. Galloway was revived at the hospital.

Bilabos, 35 and Antonio Bilabos, 34, North Grand avenue, Orange, were arrested and brought to the jail yesterday afternoon by Officers Alfonso Westermann and James Johnson. Antonio Bilabos was charged with intoxication and his brother for drunk driving.

James Santellano, 32, charged with driving drunk and Escuel Herrera, 37, booked for intoxication and disturbing the peace, were arrested last night by Undersheriff C. W. Riggle and Deputy Sheriff Art Ellis. Gregorio Seroto, 40, Placentia laborer, was arrested by Chief Gus Barnes of Placentia Saturday night and booked for sale of liquor.

G. Hernandez, 50, Julia street, Anaheim, was brought to the jail Saturday to serve a five day sentence for drunkenness imposed by Judge Charles Kuechel of Anaheim. Ignacio Chalez, 27, Orange, was booked at the jail Saturday for drunkenness by Officers John Eltiste and Homer Davis.

The poem "In Flanders Field," was first read in America by E. H. Sothorn, in Brooklyn, during the World War.

WASHINGTON
By George Durno
DEEP STUFF

The pot of political intrigue is boiling over in Europe. Old World capitals make bland gestures with one hand. The other they keep behind their backs—with their fingers in pies that have not even cooled.

Propaganda is in the saddle. Hatreds are riding high. Dictators are dictating in a frenzy of passion.

Secret alliances and cross-alliances are being sought on every side.

Private information reaches Washington that an attempt to reestablish the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy may be the answer to Germany's efforts to convert Austria to the Nazi cause.

Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss of Austria is fighting desperately to prevent Adolf Hitler from snatching his nation. He has the aid of Italy, France and England.

Secret advice to the State Department indicate Dollfuss has one final ace in the hole if he must play it.

ACES AND KINGS
Should diplomatic intervention by the Big Three fail, don't be surprised to see an effort made to restore the Hapsburgs to the Hungarian throne. If all went rosy the government of Hungarian Premier Goemboes would fall, followed by election of a parliament to annul the law of de-thronement.

Otto would return to the Hungarian throne. Then Dollfuss in Austria would introduce an emergency decree annulling the laws of 1919 ousting the Hapsburgs and the old monarchy would be intact.

All this of course doesn't allow for all that Hitler will be doing.

SOVIET-SOCKING
Germany meanwhile is reported engaged in undercover negotiations to secure British backing in her policy against Soviet Russia, and Poland.

A top-draw dinner was held in London recently word of which never got in the newspapers. Present were Foreign Secretary Simons, Canadian Premier Bennett, Australian Premier Bruce, African Premier Smuts and heads of the British foreign office. Our confidential reports say Simon stressed the importance of enabling Germany to get treaty revision in connection with her frontiers. The British foreign secretary indicated what he meant was particularly the Polish and Hungarian frontiers.

He is reported to have said the time for revision by arbitration had passed. Article 19 of the League of Nations provides for such arbitration.

HITLERING
Herr Hitler is doing his bit to win English sentiment around to the Nazi cause.

Diplomatic mail pouch dispatches from Germany say an additional fund of 10,000,000 marks has been set aside for propaganda purposes. Part of this money is to be spent in Britain. One stunt contemplated is the founding of a weekly publication allegedly to be "an independent journal of British opinion."

Another goody out of the fund is to be expended in bringing young foreigners, particularly from the Balkans, to Berlin and training them in the manner of a Hitlerite.

UNLOADING
Down in Italy Benito Mussolini has a hidden iron in the fire. Agents report 11 Duce wants to unload Fiume. But he'd do it in such a way as to be hailed for his "concession" and get a few more material nature in return.

Fiume is a dead turkey as a seaport. In the first place it gets too much competition from Venice and Trieste. In addition the railway running to it through Jugo-slavia is asking exorbitant freight rates.

When British Premier MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Simon went to Rome some time back to announce the Four Power Pact Mussolini was set to spring his plan to be generous—if he could make it pay. Opposition from the French and the Little Entente together with a tension between Italy and Germany delayed the scheme then.

The time is nearing when it will be hatched formally.

MOUTHS
England is facing a problem in connection with her emigration. Ordinarily about 200,000 Britons leave their native Isles every year to seek their fortunes. This has been about the figure for 30 years.

Now for the first time none of her subjects has gone out and 6,000 have come back to the Mother Country.

With mouths to feed and doles demanded the situation is giving the English some concern.

SWASTIKA
When the Graf Zeppelin left Friedrichshafen recently on her trip to Rio de Janeiro the Nazi Swastika was floating from her stern. It was the first time Herr Hitler's emblem had shown on the giant airship.

The Germans are undertaking a regular fortnightly service between Germany and South America carrying passengers, freight and mail.

Fifteen passengers were aboard for the inaugural flight.

NOTES
Returning to the United States we might report that the Public Works Administration was posterized with phone calls seeking information about various projects. It finally instructed its telephone operators not to give out any. Imagine the surprise of an official when he went by the board the other day and heard a girl say blithely: "No, Senator, sorry, but I can't tell you a word. Read it in the papers tomorrow." . . . She was talking to William Gibbs McAdoo. . . . As an employment note it may be recorded that Rep. Robert E. Thompson of El Paso has placed his son William with the Federal Home Loan Board. . . . William is a messenger there.

A radio announcer for an oil company program spoke fulsomely the other night about "the wholehearted support" his sponsor was giving the new code. . . . It was our thought the oil people were sandbagged into signing it.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

That good old constitutional phrase about being "deprived of property without due process of law" is going to be dragged out once more and quashed off.

It's all because the New York Public Service Commission has smacked five Consolidated Gas subsidiaries in the eye with a 6% rate reduction. The Con. Gas people think it is both insulting and injurious as they are just about to raise their costs by signing a code.

BYRD WILL USE DOGS, PLANES ON POLAR TRIP

QUEBEC, Aug. 28. — (INS) — Labrador huskies will work hand in hand with airplanes during the next Byrd expedition to "Little America," starting from Boston October 1.

The expedition will last two years with the S. S. Pacific Fir (8000 tons) and the bargeentine Bear of Oakland, as the supply ships. Two or three planes are to be taken along, to augment those used in the last expedition by the United States explorer, as well as something like fifty magnificent specimens of Labrador and Quebec husky, or wolfdog.

Some 45 of these malamutes are now on their way to Woonahatch, N. H., which is where near Admiral Byrd selected his first batch of dogs for the Antarctic.

With plans for the expedition, which will be one of scientific research, under way for the last two years, or more, nothing is being left to chance, and the same careful selection was made of dogs as of members of the expedition.

According to plans, the expedition will get under way October 1, after the S. S. Pacific Fir has been re-christened, and will steam out of Boston harbor, to make its way along the Panama Canal.

PARIS. (INS)—Modern untethered railroad automobiles—automotrices as they are called in France—of varying ages, sizes and shapes are being displayed at the Gare St. Lazare here.

A Bugatti 80-passenger automotrice, which is reported to be the fastest in the world with a maximum speed of 125 miles per hour, will shortly be placed in service on the Paris-Deauville run.

Double-deckers carrying 118 passengers seated and 100 standing are to be placed in the suburban service shortly.

Con. Gas isn't popular with other utility groups but they will be pulling hard for its victory. As this column has pointed out before, they think code costs would be a cheap price to pay to get rid of the rate reduction bugaboo.

There are inside whispers that NRA authorities are somewhat annoyed with the New York commission for raising the issue at a critical moment for NRA fortunes. They didn't want the jurisdiction question raised just now. Of course the federal government isn't officially a party to the fight. But actually the outcome will have a far-reaching effect on federal plans.

Con. Gas's predicament goes to show that it doesn't pay to maintain dividends and officers' salaries at the cost of wage-cuts and dismissals among lesser employees. Brooklyn Edison did that and the clamor which ensued is really responsible for the whole rate reduction battle in New York City.

TAX
The new capital stock tax has corporate executives walking in circles and talking to themselves. "It sounded so nice when the government said it would let each corporation use its own figures on capital value for tax purposes. Of course setting too low a figure would result in additional excess profits taxes but the mathematical wizards thought surely they could dope some way to beat the gun at one end or the other.

They have used up reams of paper and carloads of pencils without finding a puncture-proof method of phonying the tax. It is a bitter disappointment. An officer in a large holding company says "We finally decided we might as well use the straight figures and let it go at that." For some companies this is quite an innovation. Beating the tax laws has always come under the head of good clean sport.

Apparently the simpler the law the harder it is to duck.

BOYCOTT
Walter Becker, assistant to the German commercial department of the German Consulate General, left last week for Germany to discuss counter-measures against the American boycott of German goods. The boycott has reached proportions which worry the Hitlerites considerably.

The Italians are keenest of all to benefit from the plight of their brother Fascist. They see an opening for textile exports to the United States which they never had before. The Japanese are also up on their toes.

NAZIS
The next step in Hitler's plan for the future of the Nazi party is the founding of five universities in the next eight years for the training of national socialists chosen to be leaders. Hitler's idea is that the permanent existence of a National Socialist Germany is assured if 5,000 graduates leave these universities yearly. He has precedent for his hopes. Five thousand graduates each year from the English universities run the Empire.

The American branch of the German secret police (referred to recently in this column) has given proof that it means business. Last week three German citizens were arrested on an incoming liner at Hamburg "because they had made derogatory remarks about the new Germany abroad."

Leaders of German American organizations held an unpublished meeting in Chicago last week. They decided to affiliate as many organizations as possible with the Friends of New Germany—American subsidiary of the

Conduct Funeral Of Mesa Resident
COSTA MESA, Aug. 28.—Funeral services for Miss Zella Margaret MacLean, 46, were held Saturday afternoon in the local branch of the Dixon-Chester home. Mr. Ray Burlingame read the Christian Science service. Miss Cornell sang several sacred selections, accompanied at the piano by Miss Marion Nelson.

Miss MacLean was born in Arizona but had spent the past 30 years in California. The last two years of her life were spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. MacLean, in their home on Tustin avenue, Costa Mesa. She was closely affiliated with the Christian Science work in the harbor district. Interment was made in Central Memorial park.

WETHERELL WINS TWO SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIPS; BARTLETT AND DR. PARKS DOUBLES FINALISTS

Eight brand new champions today took charge of the eight championships annually awarded at the end of Santa Ana's Open tennis tournament. The slate was wiped clean, none of last year's winners being here to salvage a single title when the second renewal of the Santa Ana Tennis club's classic was completed late Sunday on the courts at Frances Willard junior high school.

One of Santa Ana's own sons, 17-year-old Lewis Wetherell, dominated the play in singles. He not only won the championship in the junior division (open to boys under 18) but also the men's event, open to all comers. Wetherell lost only one set throughout the tournament, which ran from Tuesday through Sunday.

The complete list of new champions:

Men's singles: Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana.
Men's doubles: Dr. Ben Parks and Carl Bartlett, Long Beach.
Women's singles: Mrs. Mildred Ward, Santa Ana.
Mixed doubles: Miss Melva Roquet and Hoots Chilson, Anaheim.

Junior boys' singles: Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana.
Young Wetherell had smooth sailing through the finals of the two singles. He defeated Pasadena's Dave Gillam in the morning, 6-2, 6-2, and beat Jack Creamer, first-seeded favorite from Pasadena, with even greater ease in the men's finals, 6-2, 6-2.

Gillam smashed strings in two of his rackets and was forced to borrow a bat from another player. This was an obvious handicap, but it was plainly outclassed, and it was not likely that the result would have been changed materially. Creamer, on the other hand, was plainly off form, whereas the Santa Ana boy was at the crest of his game, and the points rolled off his forehand or backhand with equal facility.

Gillam, a finalist with Wetherell in junior singles, was eliminated by Wetherell in the semi-final round of the men's event on Saturday. Gillam extended Wetherell in this match, taking the second set and making the last one close at 6-4.

BRAVES SIX GAMES BEHIND GIANTS NOW

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Moving slowly toward the National league top, the Boston Braves today were only six games behind the leading New York Giants, having reduced the Giants' lead half-a-game yesterday by splitting a double-header with Cincinnati, while New York lost to and tied with St. Louis.

Boston won the opener, 7 to 0, but Cincinnati took the nightcap, 5 to 2, snapping the Braves' winning streak at eight straight. It was the fourth game the Bostonians lost in 22 starts.

HAT L. SMITH HAS HERO OF WEEK IN U. S. SPORT

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(UP)—MacDonald Smith, 43-year-old Scotchman from Carnoustie, is this week's hero, not only because he won the Western Open golf championship with 282 strokes for 72 holes—

But because he's one of the most likable professionals in the game, and doesn't take the business of golf too seriously.

Because he's the world's champion hard-luck golfer, never having won the British or U. S. Open title, although he has come close to winning one or the other seven times.

Mainly because he never gets so busy playing his own game that he can't help another fellow with his.

Willing To Aid Beginners
While Smith was making the winning shots in the Western Open he wasn't too occupied with his own game not to have time to help his partner, Reggie Myles. He made suggestions what clubs to use and what was wrong with Myles' stance and swing when he got off his game.

There are a lot of professional golfers who wouldn't make a suggestion to a beginner unless it was at so much per hour.

Mac Smith first made the golfing headlines when he tied his older brother, Alex Smith, and J. McDermott in the National Open championship in 1930. In the Open play he finished third and ever since hard luck in the major tournaments has dogged Smith's heels.

Three times in a row, 1923, 1924, 1925, he finished third in the British Open. In 1930 he finished second to Bobby Jones in the National Open and tied for second in the British Open. In 1932 he again tied for second in the British Open.

Won L. A. Open Four Times
Smith hasn't gone entirely without titles, though. He has won the Western Open three out of the four times he has played in it. The other time, at Indianapolis in 1925, he quit after the first round because the field was so congested. He started playing at 10:30 and was on the course about six hours. He packed his clubs and let the other boys worry around the course.

He has won the Metropolitan title three times, 1914, 1926 and 1931; the Los Angeles Open four times, 1928, 1929, 1931 and 1932, and the Canadian Open in 1926. Smith is now unattached. He manufactures golf clubs in Nashville, Tenn., and plays in tournaments when he feels like it.

Leading scorers in the Western Open championship which Smith won here yesterday and their scores follow:
MacDonald Smith, Nashville, Tenn., 282.
Tommy Armour, Chicago, 288.
Abe Espinosa, Chicago, 289.
Gul Paulsen, Fort Wayne, Ind., 292.

BROWNING-STEIN GO MAY ATTRACT 25,000
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Some 25,000 followers of the ungainly game of wrestling are expected to jam their way into Wrigley field tonight when Jim Browning and Sammy Stein stage what the California state athletic commission endorsed as a "world's heavyweight championship match."

Nine matches on the supporting card served as an additional magnet. The card was sponsored by the Los Angeles police post of the American Legion.

Browning claims the world title by virtue of recent wins over such opponents as Ed ("Strangler") Lewis, Gus Sonnenberg and Joe Savoldi. Both Lewis and Sonnenberg appear on the supporting card tonight.

Lewis in a match with Marin Plestina and Sonnenberg as the opponent of Nick Lutze.

Parsons Makes Hole-In-One At Willowick

J. Fred Parsons, Santa Ana druggist, today joined the rapidly increasing membership in the Hole-in-One club.

Using a mashie, Parsons yesterday sunk his tee shot on the 132-yard No. 11 hole at the Willowick Golf club, West Fifth street pay-as-you-play course. It was Willowick's fifteenth hole-in-one.

He was playing with George Richardson, another druggist. Members of a foursome—Don Mosley, Lee Nelson, J. L. Ainsworth and Earl Christenson—were just leaving No. 11 green and saw Parsons' pitch-shot drop a few inches short of the flag and spin into the cup on the first bounce.

HELEN JACOBS DISCUSSES NET DEFAULT 'CASE'

By DIXIE TIGHE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Helen Jacobs, who has tried her "unsatisfactory" lit her fourth cigarette in as many minutes, staid her voice and discussed the Moody-Jacobs case.

Whatever the tennis world may be debating in the matter of the Moody default, it certainly cannot debate the sportsmanship of Helen Jacobs.

"I regret" she refuses to criticize the outcome of the match that topped Helen Willis from her tennis throne.

"It's easy to sit on the sidelines and speculate as to the degree of a player's physical distress—I feel that only Helen Willis knew the seriousness of whatever pain caused her to default."

"I noticed that Helen looked tired after the first set—but I have often seen her look that tired. I had no warning whatsoever that she was going to quit. I had my back turned, getting balls to serve when I was suddenly informed that I had won."

"It is untrue that I urged her to go on. I felt solicited; I asked Helen if I could do anything for her, but I urged her to leave the court when she said it was too difficult for her to go on."

Advised that Mrs. Molla Mallory had said Helen Willis defaulted "because she feared defeat," Helen Jacobs merely inquired, "Really?" and commented that Mrs. Mallory usually speaks her mind.

"The heat," defended Miss Jacobs of Mrs. Moody, "was enough to get anyone down; and Helen had the added distress of pain. I know what it is to play in that condition. And I don't believe in making a martyr of yourself. It's vain glory and tennis is too fine a sport to have to resort to such tactics; it's not a game 'to the death,' and I'm glad Helen didn't place me in the position of taking the championship over her disabled form."

Miss Jacobs denied she and Mrs. Moody had any sort of personal differences.

"Helen and I are certainly not close friends. We have, apparently nothing in common. I do not see that we should be expected to cling to each other for the sake of photographers. Helen is certainly not a demonstrative person. I'd call her cold. And I cannot see myself ever making any display of emotion."

FANS HURL BOTTLES DURING CARD RALLY

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(UP)—The largest National league crowd of the season, 50,000 fans, enjoyed an old-fashioned afternoon of turmoil at the Polo Grounds yesterday.

Pop bottles flew and a squad of police scoured about the field, protecting umpires.

The St. Louis Cardinals beat the Giants, 7 to 1, in the first game of a double-header, in the eighth inning of the second game. Umpire Dolly Stark and Ted McGraw made three successive decisions, which, in the opinion of the Giants and fans, let the Cards make four runs and take a one-run lead.

Manager Bill Terry of the Giants rushed at McGraw and grabbed him by the coat lapels. His teammates dragged him away. McGraw called Frisch out at first and then called him safe. A bitter dispute followed. Finally Mel Ott and Coach Tom Clarke of the Giants were banished, but Terry was allowed to play. Meanwhile the fans howled and showered bottles.

'CATS' BATTLE OILERS; STARS AWAIT TERRORS

With their backs to the wall, Santa Ana's Green Cats must "dig in" here tonight or else lose their last chance for the Orange County Night league baseball championship.

Two down and three to go, the "Cats" face Huntington Beach at the Municipal Bowl in the crucial contest of the playoff series between the first and second-half champions.

Superb pitching by Jim Coates gave the Junior Oilers 2-0 and 3-2 victories over the Santa Anans in the first two starts. Manager "Bullets" Marshall will give Coates a rest tonight, starting either Southpaw Malouf or Pelzer. Joe Harless, Santa Ana's head man, will use Lyle Morse and the same lineup that last Friday shutout Santa Ana's Stars, 2-0, in an exhibition game.

The National Night league season officially closes Tuesday, with Santa Ana drawing a home game for its 1933 swansong.

The Stars meet Torrance, mighty first-half champions. Officials anticipate one of the season's biggest crowds to watch the home-run hitting geniuses of "Spud" Murphy's colorful outfit tune up for their series with Huntington Beach.

Other windup games match Anaheim and Huntington Beach at Huntington Beach, and Westminster and Whittier at Whittier. Huntington Beach already has the second-half sewed up.

Elks and Hoffman's Rebhottomy meet at the Bowl Wednesday in the second of a two-out-of-three game playoff for the Santa Ana championship.

OPEN PLAY FOR WOMEN'S GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

HIGHLAND PARK, Ill., Aug. 28.—(UP)—The finest field of feminine golfers to compete in one tournament teed off at Exmoor Country club course today in the Women's National championship.

Here were several former women's champions, state and sectional titleholders, important tournament winners and two foreign stars.

The 115 entrants play an 18-hole medal round today. The 35 low qualifiers begin 18-hole match play tomorrow that will continue through next Saturday, when the 36-hole final is held.

Virginia Van Wie of Chicago shot a sensational 72 in one of her last practice rounds. She clipped six strokes off women's par of 79 and came within one stroke of men's par. Helen Hicks, Inwood, N. Y., 1931 champion, breezed around in 75. A dozen others have shot under par in warming up.

Glenna Collett Vare, five times champion, was the only outstanding woman golfer not entered. She planned to tour the course today with Ada Mackenzie, playing as a non-participant. Mrs. Vare temporarily abandoned tournament play because of her five-months-old daughter.

City league championship. The Hoffman team won the series inaugural, 11-7, and is favored to clinch the pennant without the necessity of a third start. Admission is free to the city circuit playoffs.

Elmer Curry Wins Junior Golf Tourney

Santa Ana today boasted another potential sports champion—young Elmer Curry of the Santa Ana Country club.

Curry won the La Jolla Junior invitational golf tournament Saturday, defeating in the finals Dan Crokney of Hacienda, one up on the thirty-seventh hole. He made scores were 81 and 79.

The Santa Ana boy had the match well in hand on the first nine, finishing three up, but lost five holes in succession and was two down after the morning 18. He rallied in the afternoon, and was one up after the 17th, but missed a short putt on the 18th, and Crokney squared the match. Curry won in an extra hole.

Curry beat "Bud" Nichols in the first round, 2 and 1; Don Kennedy of Santa Ana in the second round, 2 and 1, and John Ingie, one up, in the semi-finals.

Southern California's leading juniors competed in the La Jolla affair.

Five "partnerships" tied for first place in sweepstakes at the Santa Ana Country club Saturday. The winners:

A. W. Robinson and Dr. John Ball, 74-6-66; R. A. Emison and H. L. Miller, 79-13-66; M. N. Thompson and R. W. Cole, 76-10-66; L. D. Coffing and L. W. Bemis, 72-6-66; W. W. Foote and S. C. Russell, 75-9-66.

Miss Jacobs Eyes European Crowns

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Helen Jacobs, new American tennis queen, is ambitious.

"I love tournament play and I intend to keep right on playing in tournaments. I am going to try to get the French and English titles, too."

DETHRONED NET 'QUEEN' UNDER CARE OF NURSE

By JACK CUDDY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(UP)—Helen Willis Moody's default to Helen Jacobs in the final of the National Women's tennis tournament split the sports world today. Mrs. Moody returned under care of a nurse to her California home and Miss Jacobs left for a vacation at Marblehead, Mass.

The controversy dwarfed the stunning fact that "Queen Helen," supreme in women's tennis since 1926, had been beaten at last.

Mrs. Moody was seeking to tie Mrs. Molla Mallory's all-time record of eight National titles by beating Miss Jacobs, who won the title last year when she did not compete. Each had won a set. In the third and deciding set, "Queen Helen" was losing 6-3 when she walked off the court defaulting.

One large group of sports followers insisted Mrs. Moody should have played through the final set, even at the risk of fainting from the numbness and pain caused by a previous spine injury.

Mrs. Moody was accused of being particularly unfair to Miss Jacobs by "quitting cold" and depriving her of the chance of winning an out-and-out, rather than a hollow default victory.

Mrs. Moody was able to walk off the court, these critics pointed out. Miss Jacobs probably needed a doctor worse than Mrs. Moody. She used restoratives repeatedly during the match.

A smaller group of admirers rallied to Mrs. Moody's defense. These:

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

PARTIES HELD BY MEMBERS OF SOCIAL CLUBS

ORANGE, Aug. 28.—A number of social clubs of the city held enjoyable meetings the past week. Among these were the Past Noble Grand's association, which met at Anaheim park for a day's outing. Families of members shared the event and about 60 were present to enjoy an informal program of games, strolls about the park and swimming in the plunge. A covered dish dinner was served. Arrangements for the event were under the supervision of the president, Mrs. C. W. Coffey.

Olympic Club
The Olympic club members entertained in the home of Mrs. C. H. Adams where a delectable cold luncheon was served at noon. The hostess used dhabias in deep shades in decorating. Mrs. C. C. Hatch was welcomed as a new member of the group. The next meeting place is to be announced later. The afternoon was spent at fancy work.

Present were Mrs. A. C. Tulene, Mrs. Hart Pennington, Mrs. E. A. Haines, Mrs. Arthur Hildon, Mrs. Burt Hodson, Mrs. Hatch and the hostess, Mrs. Adams.

Rainbow Club
Mrs. L. E. Ralls, North Handy street, was hostess to members of the Rainbow club. Sewing occupied the attention of the guests and at the close of the afternoon, refreshments were served on a prettily appointed tray. The next meeting of the group will be held in September in the home of Mrs. J. A. Green, South Center street.

Those present other than the hostess were Mrs. D. W. Kelsor, Mrs. W. A. Moore, Mrs. J. A. Green, Mrs. C. C. Hatch, Mrs. W. H. Erwin, Mrs. Emma Moore and Mrs. T. Syvester.

Bide a Wee Club
The Harry Haynes' home on North Center street was chosen as the setting for the annual outing of the Bide a Wee club the latter part of the week. Luncheon was served at one long table and red roses and ferns were used in decking the home for the occasion.

During the business session plans were made for a Christmas party, which is to take place in the home of Mrs. Jesse Campbell on West Chapman avenue. Hostesses are to be Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. C. B. Harper, Mrs. R. S. Frye and Mrs. Harry Douglass.

Those present were Mrs. R. S. Frye, Mrs. F. R. Valentine, Mrs. L. F. Robinson, Mrs. F. E. Harrison, Mrs. Harry Douglass, Mrs. Jesse Campbell, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass, Mrs. Robert Burns McAulay and daughter, Barbara Jean; Mrs. E. P. Crowley and Mrs. Altha Crowley, of Sacramento; Miss Shirley Haynes, Miss Ruth Valentine and Mrs. F. M. Gullick.

Anaheim Police Notes

ANAHEIM, Aug. 28.—Five arrests were made during the week-end. Chief of Police James S. Bouldin reported this morning, most of the arrests being for intoxication, possession and drunk driving.

Early Saturday evening Walter R. Johnson, 36, of Fullerton was arrested for intoxication and drunk driving. He was booked and locked up until yesterday, when he was released on a $150 bail bond to appear September 2, at 9 a. m.

Harry Atkinson, 28, of Anaheim was arrested and charged with possession Saturday night. He was released on a $50 bail bond to appear September 11, at 2 o'clock.

R. B. Hartie, 50, of 411 North Olive street, was arrested for intoxication, booked and locked up. Joe Gordon of Fullerton was also locked up on an intoxication charge and drunk driving early Sunday morning. He was released on a $25 bail bond.

At 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning Harold Serene, 29, of Santa Ana, was arrested for intoxication and booked for drunk driving. He was released on a $100 bail bond to appear tomorrow morning at 9 a. m.

Early this morning R. E. Gray of 215 South Clementine street was arrested for intoxication when he was found staggering on the streets. He was arrested on the same charge in July and August 20.

SCHOOL PUPILS EXHIBIT WORK, GIVE PROGRAM

ORANGE, Aug. 28.—The exhibit of hand work at the intermediate school was attended by a number of parents of children who had attended the playgrounds the past five weeks. The young workers were supervised by Miss Helen Kroener.

The program was opened by the Killefer group with a shadow skit, with Betty Reck as the reader. Johnnie Stout was the winner over Charles Reck in a cracker swatting contest, and Clarence Tibbitt and Gerald De Witt staged a balloon contest in which the former won. Center street school girls presented several numbers by a comb band, and Shirley Valentine and Eva Oswald gave a tap dance. Arthur Burton gave a guitar solo and Elmer Hewlett and Junior Nash put on a boxing match.

The Maple street school presented a skit, "The Hero's Triumph." The play was presented in both fast and slow motion. The fast motion actors were Eleanor Bolm, Daisy Shaw, Ethel Mae Stewart, Donna Gosnell, Helen Walters, Glenn Leininger, and the slow motion actors were Lorene Quandt, Pauline Campbell, Gladys Gosnell, Bonnie Minton and Martha Shaw. A pantomime was given by Daisy Shaw, Martha Shaw, Donna Gosnell, Gladys Gosnell and Helen Walters.

Marjorie McCall read the story as the play was enacted. Evelyn Shaw sang "I Like to Sweep With My Little Broom," and a skit, "The Tractor," was given by Earl Rowland, Salvatore Felix, Henry Felix, Will Muffelman, Marion Stewart and Ernest Mollica.

Intermediate presented Virginia Claypool, Helen Talbert, Dorothy Bruce, Virginia Hewlett, Phyllis Wamsley, June Taylor, Virginia Claypool, Edith Oswald, Marie Wamsley, Rosemary Atchley, Ida Wamsley, in songs. Nelson Kroener and Gene Wing gave a boxing match, and Chauncey Huscroft and Wallace Amery, a wrestling match, and Kenneth Wernner played a harmonica solo.

West Orange school pupils, Vivian Amos and Mabel Willis, Betty Doncaster, Margaret Korse and Fay Phillips gave a tumbling act, and Modia Cook and Jean Phillips, a boxing match. George Clark and Bob Hatch put on a contest, as did Neil Clark and Warren Cook. Cypress Center children put on tumbling acts.

HELP OTHERS. PASTOR URGES IN VILLA PARK

VILLA PARK, Aug. 28.—The Rev. Wesley P. Ford spoke on "Morality Versus Religion" at services at the Community church in Villa Park Sunday. His text was: Matthew 19:21, "Jesus said unto him, if thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven; and come and follow me." He said in part: "You remember the rich young ruler, who mentioned the fact that he had kept the commandments from his youth. Jesus told him if he would find eternal life, to sell all that he had and give to the poor, and come and follow him. It seems to me there are many men and women, who are good, moral people, and they are men who can take pride in the fact that they have kept all the commandments but yet there is one thing lacking. "We can go back to the time of Moses and of Abraham, Jesus came into the world to do away with so many thou shalt not. He came into the world and added a positive life. We find men and women today saying, 'Is my morality sufficient?' Morality is essential, but it is not morality alone that will not bring man back to God. It was not sufficient when we have taken off the old coat of greed, selfishness and sin unless we put on righteousness.

"A man might harrow and disc his field and he might take pride in the fact that there wasn't a single weed, but something else must be planted. Jesus says, 'Go in search of the needy.' Think of somebody else. We are not ready for the crown of everlasting life. He bids us go and give to the poor, and you shall have treasure in heaven. Give and don't stop there. As a man comes back to Jesus he realizes the need. Jesus went sometimes in place of righteousness and sometimes in the field of sin. As a man learns of Jesus, he becomes more anxious to work. "A moral man says, 'Surely I have kept and obeyed all commandments.' Such a man becomes possessed of his own proud morality. Jesus says, 'Go yonder in search of lost sheep.' The more we receive from God the more humble we become, and the more we possess the spirit of brotherhood. The whole world seems to be going some place. It seems that God had a plan. We are moving on physically, mentally and socially. And so as we are moving on we are also growing."

DEATH CALLS MRS. CHESLEY: RITES TUESDAY

ORANGE, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Elizabeth Chesley, of Orange, passed away Saturday night in the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. H. Schlaphohl, in Long Beach, and funeral services are to be held at Mot-tell's funeral chapel at Third and Alamitos streets, in Long Beach, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Following the services Mrs. Schlaphohl will accompany the body of her mother to Sutherland, Ia., where interment will be made. Mrs. Chesley would have been 95 years old November 10.

A resident of this city for the past six years, Mrs. Chesley made her home with another daughter, Mrs. Addie Kenyon, North Orange street. She went to visit Mrs. Schlaphohl a few weeks ago, becoming ill while there. Mrs. Chesley lived in Waterloo, Ia., before coming to California.

Born in De Kalk county, Ill., Mrs. Chesley was married to Nathaniel Chesley in 1856 and the young couple took a homestead in O'Brien county in Iowa. Mr. Chesley passed away in 1889. The family lived for some years at Sutherland, Ia.

Survivors are three daughters, Mrs. Kenyon, of this city, Mrs. Schlaphohl and Mrs. Adella Tripplett, of Stuebeland, Ia., one son, Herbert Chesley, of Tonamah, Nev., 27 grandchildren, 48 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson.

QUIET WEDDING TAKES PLACE IN P. RISTOW HOME

ORANGE, Aug. 28.—A quiet wedding of Saturday evening was that of Mrs. Dora E. Strawderman, of Iola, Kans., and Frank Cutright of this city. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock in the home of Mr. Cutright's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ristow, North Batavia street, with Dr. Robert Burns McAulay reading the service.

The Ristow home was decorated with fall flowers, asters and zinnias predominating and after the ceremony Mrs. Ristow served dainty refreshments. The newlyweds will live at 725 East Palm street.

The bride wore a becoming gown of navy blue georgette and a corsage of white gardenias. Only close relatives were present and these included Mr. and Mrs. Ristow and three sons, Lewis, Everett and Richard; Mrs. Lydia Carpenter and son, Gene, of Junction City, Kans.; Miss Luella Cutright, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Swartz, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Florence Oglesby and children, Helen and Bob, of Orange.

ATTENDANCE AT ORANGE CHURCH AT HIGH MARK

ORANGE, Aug. 28.—The largest attendance at church and Sunday school for August was noted at the First Christian church yesterday when the pastor, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, completed the fifth year of his service here.

The pastor began his duties in Orange on September 1, 1928, following his graduation from Yale university, where he received his B. D. degree. The young pastor received his M. A. degree at Transylvania university at Lexington, Ky., and his B. A. at the University of California where he completed his law course.

At the morning service greetings from the congregation were extended to the pastor by the chairman of the church board, M. E. Bivens, who stated that the large attendance was a mark of appreciation for the work and achievements of the past years.

The pastor chose as his topic, "A Living Memorial." During the course of his talk he brought out that the church attendance and membership was the living result of changed lives through the work of God, the people and the pastor. The pastor cited a number of ways in which the membership of the church might have failed and which would have handicapped the work greatly. As the majority did not fail, he said, the results achieved were possible.

The gain in church membership for the past five years was given as 463 and a 63 per cent gain has been made in Sunday school attendance. The gain in church attendance at the morning services was placed at 76 per cent and the gain in attendance at the evening services at 148 per cent in the five-year period during which the membership has doubled. Attention was called to the Sunday school addition to the church, which was built at a cost of $17,000 in 1930 and indebtedness for which is now nearly cancelled.

Pageant Tonight Opens Laguna Beach Festival Of Arts

EXPECT EVENTS WILL ATTRACT MANY VISITORS

Laguna Beach, whose art colony has won for it national fame, sponsors its second annual Festival of Arts beginning tonight, with daily programs continuing through to September 4.

The art exposition, created last year from an idea by John H. Hinchman, one of the distinguished painters, is expected to lure thousands of Southland residents to the colony during the eight days of the outstanding event.

A pageant of classic charm, the Spirit of the Masters will have its first showing at 6:30 o'clock tonight, scheduled to move from the Colony's art gallery to the Laguna Beach El Paseo, where arts and crafts exhibitions, music and entertainment, will be offered Southern visitors. Formal opening of El Paseo will be held at 7 o'clock tonight.

Open House

The Laguna Beach Community club will hold open house Tuesday evening, following a day's program including the second presentation of the Spirit of the Masters pageant, visits to El Paseo, an artists' reception and tea, and recreation in the form of dancing, swimming and several water sports.

As the famous artist's gift of appreciation to her neighbors in the artist colony, Alice Gentle will be heard in concert at the Laguna Beach school auditorium Wednesday evening in one of the highlights of another full day's program.

Opening a three-day bowling tournament, with Southern California's lawn bowling clubs competing at Hesper park at 10 o'clock; an equestrian parade in costume through downtown streets beginning at 1 o'clock; and a rodeo and horse show at Los Amigos riding academy are other Wednesday features.

A continuation of Wednesday's program will be held Thursday, featuring another display of the Laguna Beach arts and crafts and a fashion show.

Costume Ball

In addition to the regular daily features, the Festivals of Arts costume ball will be presented in the Laguna Beach ballroom Friday evening at 9 o'clock. Finals in the lawn bowling tournament will be held in the morning at Hesper park.

Reginald H. Poland, director of the fine arts gallery of San Diego, will give a pictorial review and lecture of the great art show now on display at the World's Fair in Chicago, in the Laguna Beach school auditorium next Saturday at 8:30 p. m. This lecture will climax a day of general entertainment in the art colony.

An afternoon concert by the South Coast orchestra in El Paseo, and a morning and evening display of the Laguna Beach arts and crafts will be held one week from tomorrow, while the final program September 4 will include another equestrian parade in costume through the downtown streets of Laguna, two displays of arts and crafts in El Paseo, and the closing at 6:30 p. m. by characters from the Spirit of the Masters pageant.

The Festival of Arts executive committee, headed by Andrew S. Hall, includes J. E. Blahop, George N. Brown, L. F. Mallow and Charles A. Kaichen.

FARM GROUP URGES CONTROL OF DAIRY HERDS

Control of cattle production is recommended in a resolution adopted Saturday afternoon at Las Ondas cafe, in Laguna Beach, by delegates to Farm Bureau Region No. 1 in urging the California Farm Bureau Federation to continue efforts to stabilize milk production in the state. The resolution asked curtailment of production by cutting out poor producers in present herds and heifer control rather than by getting rid of the present surplus of cows.

The regional group, representing Orange, Imperial, San Diego, San Bernardino and Riverside counties, also went on record, in resolutions, as urging growers of vegetables to organize into cooperative groups so that they will have a say in the marketing of products, and asking the California Farm Bureau Federation to continue its efforts to secure such modifications in the sales tax law as is necessary, through administrative ruling, legislation or otherwise, to avoid subjection of the sale of capital goods to the sale tax.

Seek Tax Relief

The preamble to the sales tax resolution cited that the purpose of the sales tax law is to tax the consumer as distinct from the producer. Because of the tax on fertilizers, oil sprays and other articles used in farm and orchard production, an extra burden has been imposed, according to W. F. Eldridge, director of Region No. 1, who presided, and unfair competition has resulted from growers outside of the state. This Eldridge termed "double taxation."

Home department reports were made by J. C. Crill, Orange county; Joe Enz, Imperial county; Mrs. E. J. Mykranitz, San Diego county; R. O. Price, San Bernardino county, and Peter T. Carter, Riverside county, who were state delegates. Reports on agricultural extension service were made by the following county agents: E. E. Eastman, assistant, Orange; H. J. Winger, San Bernardino; M. M. Winslow, Riverside.

Commodity department reports were made as follows: Dairy, J. J. Denni, Orange; citrus, N. C. Kelly, Riverside; poultry, Mrs. E. J. Anderson, Riverside; 4-H Club Council, Paul Pierce, Riverside.

During the luncheon, Mrs. E. J. Mykranitz of San Diego gave a complete report on the Western Regional Conference, including delegates from 11 states, held recently at Salt Lake City.

In his report to the conference, Regional Director Eldridge discussed at some length the working out of the farm relief program. While admitting that only 10 per cent of the applications for loans came within the requirements of the Land Bank law, Eldridge said that a great deal of trouble had been experienced in getting approval for loans that apparently were all right. It was decided by the group to have full data on these applications sent to the state headquarters in Berkeley, and then to Washington if necessary.

Others who made home department reports were Mrs. L. A. Bartz, Orange; Mrs. Clayton Reed, Riverside; Mrs. N. Matzen, San Diego; Mrs. Alfred Crown, San Bernardino.

Where Storm Marooned 4,000 in Maryland Resort

Here is a striking airplane-view of Ocean City, Md., the island resort on which 4,000 residents were marooned when waters from swelling streams inundated the city. Cut off from gas, telephone and light, refugees were reported waiting in rowboats with their possessions until the waters subsided.

COLLECTORS TO USE OLD GUNS FOR TOURNEY

The members of the Gun Collectors association of Southern California met at the office of Dr. Roy S. Horton Saturday evening for their regular monthly meeting, about 40 members being present with many cities in the southern end of the state represented.

A number of excellent collections of guns were on display, that of Carl C. Cowles of this city attracting especially favorable comment. Dr. Horton, president of the club, presided at a short business session after which the members spent the evening in trading guns and in exchanging information regarding their hobby. Refreshments were served during the evening in the patio to the rear of the office.

To settle some discussion as to the shooting qualities of certain guns as well as the marksmanship of some of the club members it was decided to hold a shooting tournament with muzzle-loading firearms at the Olive range on September 17.

Next regular meeting of the club will be held at Anaheim Saturday evening, September 30.

Dodge, Plymouth Salesmen Enter Baseball Contest

Salesmen of the L. D. Coffing company, Dodge and Plymouth dealers for Santa Ana and Orange county, are working hard in the baseball series contest to secure points toward the grand national prize of a free trip to Paris and other European capitals.

The competition extends from July 30 to September 30 and offers every employee a chance to earn extra cash commissions. Points are scored on the retail sales of Dodge and Plymouth cars. Each new Dodge passenger car means 30 points; each new Plymouth means 30 points; every new Dodge commercial car or truck brings the salesman 40

ROTARIANS OF COUNTY PLAN JOINT PICNIC

Orange county Rotary clubs will unite in a big picnic to be held next Thursday afternoon in Anaheim Municipal park. It was announced today by Secretary R. C. Smedley. All Rotarians and members of Rotary families are invited.

The program will start at 4 p. m. with athletic events, including swimming competition and games for adults and children. A picnic dinner will be served by Duffy, well known caterer, at 6:30 p. m. An elaborate program of entertainment will be presented at 7:30 p. m. in the open air Greek theater in the Anaheim park. A big delegation from the San Diego Rotary club will attend the meeting and will assist in staging the program.

The Tia Juana Rotary club will provide special Spanish music and entertainment. The program also will include speeches, stunts and other featured entertainment. Advance registrations are necessary, which can be made with club secretaries. The picnic will take the place of all regular Rotary club meetings in the county.

EXAMINATIONS FOR JOBS IN STATE LISTED

The United States Civil Service Commission today announced open competitive examinations for the positions of operator, trail builder; operator, tractor (crawler type); power blade grader; operator, traction grader; foreman (mountain road and trail construction) and general foreman (mountain road and trail construction).

Existing and future vacancies in these positions in the various national forests and national parks and other government services in California may be filled from these examinations. The entrance salary for the present vacancies ranges from $1020 to $2600 a year, less a deduction of 15 per cent, as a measure of economy, and 3 1-2 per cent, toward a retirement annuity.

Persons who can meet the requirements should promptly apply for these examinations. Application forms and further information as to requirements, etc., may be obtained from Frank Cannon, secretary, local board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office, or from the manager, 12th U. S. Civil Service district, room 241 Post Office building, San Francisco.

Applications must be filed in complete form without delay.

PUBLIC SUPPORT ASKED FOR GOODWILL INDUSTRY

In an appeal to the people of Santa Ana for help in carrying on the work of the Goodwill Industries J. C. Winterbourne, superintendent, has asked for contributions of salvage, particularly magazines and old papers.

He requests anyone with salvage of any kind to telephone either 2046 or 3635-W or 215-J Anaheim. A truck will be sent immediately to pick up the contributions.

Winterbourne said "It has been the policy of the Goodwill Industries to gather up salvage, good and bad, when called by the 10,000 bag holders in the county. While the major portion of this salvage is good, there was much that has been gathered at a loss.

"Particularly is this true in reference to newspapers and magazines during the past three years. The price for this salvage has been almost nothing and every ton gathered entailed a loss. Now, however, the price on salvage has almost doubled and Goodwill Industries should make back, in part, that loss of the past three years. The raise in the price of salvage, however, has flooded the country with people and agencies, needy no doubt, who are making personal appeals and the result is that many friends forget to call the Goodwill."

"During the past eight years in Orange county, the industry has paid out approximately $30,000 in wages, rent, light, gas and water. While this is small in comparison with the magnitude of the need it has contributed to the relief of the unfortunate situation in which our country, with others, has been found."

PAROCHIAL SCHOOL TO OPEN SEPT. 11

Decision has been reached to reopen St. Joseph's parochial school, 721 Lacy street, for the ensuing school year, it was announced today.

The school will open for the fall term on September 11, it was announced, after some discussion as to whether or not it would reopen.

Registrations will be accepted on Thursday, August 31, and on the succeeding Sunday. The school has two sections, the elementary section, which includes grades from the first through the sixth, and the junior high school section, which takes in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

The school had an average attendance of 130 pupils last year. It was stated.

PLAY BALL!

Never before in the history of the great national pastime have two baseball leagues battled so ferociously and played with such inspired fervor as the two leagues of the great Dodge baseball series.

From July 30 to September 30, Dodge salesmen are sweating the ball at a fast and furious rate, with their eyes on that batting average that approaches 100 per cent. ($1500.00). This group of men, well known to you in Santa Ana, Orange, Huntington Beach, Newport, Tustin and Laguna Beach, have qualified to represent Orange County in the great contest, so if you have planned on a Dodge automobile or truck this fall, speed up that purchase now before September 30th. Don't buy a Plymouth unless one of these players makes the sale. Used cars count also. If you are planning on the purchase of an automobile of any make let one of these men present the Dodge "Show-Down" plan to you before you buy—your purchase may be the one run they need.

Orange Couple to Make Home Here on Return From Honeymoon

On their return from a brief honeymoon trip of unannounced destination, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel G. Sufferin plan to establish their home in Santa Ana, it was revealed today.

The ceremony at which Miss Cora Pargue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pargue, 525 East Collins avenue, Orange, became Mrs. Sufferin, took place Friday morning, August 25, in the Immanuel Lutheran church of Orange. Officiating minister was the pastor, the Rev. A. G. Webber.

For the service, performed at 10:30 o'clock, the bride was gown in a tweed swaggar suit in tan and brown tones, with which she wore harmonizing accessories. Tallman roses and white sweet peas formed her shoulder corsage.

Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Pargue, Miss Evelyn Pargue, Robert Pargue, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pargue, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pargue, George Hillis, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sufferin, Miss Ethel Sufferin, James Sufferin, Miss Dorothea Martin and Miss Ruth Enoch.

The new Mrs. Sufferin has been assistant librarian in Santa Ana public library for the past few years. She is a graduate of Orange Union High school. Mr. Sufferin, an Orange rancher, attended the University of Illinois after completing his high school studies in Coal City, Ill. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sufferin, 686 East Collins avenue, Orange.

Children Are Invited To Birthday Party For Little Lad

Master John Wallace Nicoll, small son of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. P. Nicoll of South Flower street, was happily surprised last week when he went into the garden of his home and found a dozen of his playmates, congregated under gay beach umbrellas, waiting to celebrate with him his sixth birthday anniversary.

Games, an exciting peanut hunt, with prizes for the winners, and the serving of refreshments created a happy atmosphere for the children. Master John had the added joy of opening an assortment of birthday packages. Small tables, above which swayed bright colored balloons as favors for the children, were appointed in yellow and green for the refreshment menu, which included a birthday cake with six yellow and green tapers.

Mrs. Otto Schultz, aunt of Mrs. Nicoll, assisted in entertaining and serving the children, who included, in addition to the young host, Master John Wallace Nicoll, Marjorie and Bonnie Lee Keeler, Jack Chelbied, Jimmie Warden, Jack Christ, Marilyn and Tommie Wilson, Jeanne Griggs, James Lawrence Schilling, Dick and Julian Dean and Andy Pippa.

Wedding Anniversary Celebrated With Dinner Bridge

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rich and Couden, 602 South Birch street, were dinner hosts last Thursday evening in their home, they little dreamed that their guests were aware of the significance of the date of August 24.

But the hosts were mistaken, for their friends had recalled that it was on that date four years ago that Miss Marjorie Ellis became the bride of Mr. Couden, and so appeared for the dinner party with fruits and flowers, emblems of the fourth wedding anniversary.

The home was a-bloom with zinnias, that lovely flower in all its varied hues being the sole decoration except in the dining room where demure little pompon dahlias were used for table appointments when the appetizing dinner courses were served. Mrs. Couden suggested the anniversary by the use of bride and groom place cards. Serving was accomplished by her sisters, Mrs. Roy Hall and Mrs. Irwin F. Landis.

Bridge in the after-dinner interval, yielded the highest number of points to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, who were rewarded with a graceful pottery lamp.

Asked to share the anniversary celebration with Mr. and Mrs. Couden were Mayor Paul Witmer and Mrs. Witmer, Dr. and Mrs. Horace J. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Steinberger, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward T. McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. George Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Donald McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus.

Steak Dinner Shared By Motor Agency Employees

Recognizing the pleasures to be obtained from picnic gatherings, all the employees of the George Dunton Automobile agency, with their wives or husbands, chose one of the pleasant evenings of the past week for the first general social gathering which the group has enjoyed in an extended period of time.

Motoring to Irvine park, they enjoyed grilling steaks as a preliminary to an evening of dancing and cards, for which the pavilion was called into service.

In the party were Messrs. and Mesdames George Dunton, Parke G. Atwood, Frank A. Braddock, A. H. Bradley, Frank Bettis, Clarence E. Davey, Marvin Deshaio, Earl Gudrum, W. H. Griswold, E. L. Hull, R. R. McDonald, Miles Robinson, Roy D. Shipp, A. C. Tapscott; the Misses Ann Bird, Lillie Forsberg, Dorothy Hatch, Delphina Lopez, Messrs. Frank Black, John Hickman, Dick Lloyd, Clarence Handy, Gene Hall and Kenneth Gondale of Fullerton.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McGown and Miss Mildred McGown of Pasadena have been house-guests of Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Van Dien, 2402 Bonnie Brae, coming for the wedding Friday afternoon of Miss Louise Van Dien, daughter of the home, and Charles Lyle Webber.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Withrow and small daughter, Patricia Ann, 518 Fairview avenue, and Mrs. Roy Morrison and Boyd Morrison, 1045 West Camille street, spent the week-end at their cabin at Trabuco Oaks.

Mrs. Lydia Schroeder and children have returned from a vacation outing in the San Bernardino mountains to their home, 1409 West Fourth street. During their absence the home was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. E. Rappe of Kansas City.

Mrs. Kate Johnson, 322 Riverline avenue, has returned from a two weeks' visit with her brother in Los Angeles. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Mary J. Marston make their home together at the Riverline avenue address, where Mrs. Marston is making steady improvement after a long and serious illness.

Mrs. Adolph Erickson and her daughter, Miss Verena Bailey, have returned to their home, 1041 West Sixth street, from an extended visit with relatives in Ohio and other mid-western states, and an attendance at the Chicago exposition.

Mr. and Mrs. Ethan A. Lunderback and little son, Kenneth, of San Juan Capistrano, until recently of San Clemente, spent the week end with Mrs. W. A. Proctor, 607 East Pine street.

Mrs. Helen Johnston, 1806 Bush street, and Miss Lucille Swain, 621 North Garnsey street, spent the past few days at Catalina island.

Mrs. Charles Heinrich, 905 West Washington avenue, returned home the past week from Hardin, Montana, where she spent the past two months visiting with her husband, Mr. Heinrich, who preceded her east by about two months, and who is to remain in Hardin for an indefinite stay. Mrs. Heinrich was accompanied home by Mrs. C. F. Link and daughter, Jean, of Lodge Grass, Montana, who are her houseguests.

Miss Peggy Warburton, 619 North Van Ness avenue, has returned home from San Diego, where she spent the past week. Mrs. Leland Finley, Miss Ann Tarver, Mrs. Joel E. Ogilvie and the latter's mother, Mrs. Teasley of Los Angeles, returned home today from Catalina island where they spent the past week.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Breakfast
Sliced peaches (2), with
1 tsp sugar, no cream
2 slices toasted rye bread
1 tsp. butter for toast
1 cup coffee with
1/4 cup hot skim milk, no sugar.
Calory total—320.

An old-fashioned recipe for chili sauce.
48 ripe tomatoes
10 ripe sweet peppers
2 large onions
2 quarts vinegar (diluted)
4 cups salt
2 tps. each, cloves, nutmeg
cinnamon and allspice
1 cup sugar.
Scald, peel and slice the tomatoes, run peppers (seeded) and onions through the food chopper, add sugar, vinegar and spices and boil slowly until the sauce is smooth and fairly thick.

This old recipe adds that the sauce may be improved by the addition of mustard or curry powder, but does not give the quantity to use. I think for the recipe, 2 tablespoons of dry mustard would be about right, or, 1 tablespoon of curry powder.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Russian Meat Balls
1 pound ground raw beef
1/2 cup dry rice (uncooked)
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. pepper
3 tpsps chopped onion
1 can tomato soup
2 cups water

(Contributed)

Spread out the beef in a pan and season it with salt and pepper. Sprinkle the dry washed rice over the meat, then with your hands, divide into 12 lots and shape each into a compact ball, not into flat cakes, remember. Put the can of soup and water into a kettle and bring to a boil, arrange the meat balls in a deep casserole, pour the hot soup over, cover, and bake 1 hour in a 350 degree oven.

This makes 4 servings at a cost of 34 cents per serving for raw materials. . . a remarkable achievement for such appetizing food!

As long as the meat balls must be baked, we must utilize the rest of the oven heat. Let's make a green apple Betty with rolled toast crumbs and brown sugar for dessert. And for a green vegetable why not late Kentucky Wonder string beans, cooked in a covered casserole with a little water and a bacon rind or bacon end? And what's better than the new flat potatoes, nice fat ones, baked! All of these dishes take the same heat required for the meat balls and about the same length of cooking.

If you want a "pretty" salad you could make and chill it while the dinner was cooking. Get a package of the new quick jellifying jelly powder (lime or mint). Prepare according to directions and pour it over coarsely grated cucumber.

The calories in the recipe total 1500, approximately, and are chiefly tissue-builders.

Tuesday: Baked salad dressing.

South Gate Realtor Quietly Wedded in This City

Quietly wedded Saturday at noon in the First Presbyterian church by the pastor, the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, Hugh D. Lester, well known in this city as a real estate broker of South Gate and Long Beach, and his bride, the former Mrs. Sue Smith of Huntington Park, continued from Santa Ana to San Diego for a short automobile honeymoon trip.

For the ceremony, the charming, brunet bride, who was unattended, wore a smart ensemble costume in polka-dotted silk crepe of golden brown, with little autumn hat, shoes and gloves to correspond, and a scarf with touches of bright orange.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester were planning to spend this week in San Diego and vicinity, before returning to establish a home in South Gate where friends are waiting to extend good wishes. Mrs. Lester has been the efficient secretary in the South Gate offices of the realtor.

Children Act as Hosts At Musicales and Informal Tea

Since deportment is part of the study course pursued by young expression and music pupils of Lorene Croddy Graves, it was interesting to parents of the young people, to observe the poise with which the latter acted as hosts at a party which they gave the past week in Mrs. Graves' home, 428 West First street.

After welcoming their guests the youngsters, assisted by Verle and Gerald Lowe, presented a program of songs, readings and piano solos, which proved very enjoyable to their adult guests. At its conclusion they accepted from Mrs. Graves, the responsibility of serving refreshments.

The children, acquitting themselves so nicely in both host and program duties, were Gerald and Verle Lowe, four and six years of age respectively; Frances Lowe, Betty Jean Corry, Glenora Jean Lieser, Betty Jane Hanson, Barbara Krueger, Ruth Ames, Barbara See and Charlotte See. Their guests included Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lieser and son, Floyd Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. William Kreuger, Mrs. Evelyn Ames, Mrs. Kent and her mother, Mrs. Kent, sr., of San Diego, Mrs. Lottie See and Mrs. Corry and daughter and son, June and Buddy.

Mr. Wiggins, who is program director and technical supervisor of Radio KREZ, in which he is a contributor to the delicious menu served. With the last course came a decorated birthday cake.

Participating in the pleasant afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their sons, Arthur, Gordon and Jimmie, were the guests of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crockett, and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McClellan of Santa Ana; Mrs. Hayes and Leon Meyers of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. William Huberty, Mrs. Berry Epperson, and son, Keith, and Mr. and Mrs. William Huberty Jr., all of La Verne.

News Of Fullerton and Vicinity

NEED OF TRUTH QUEST TOLD IN PASTOR'S TALK

FULLERTON, Aug. 28.—Dr. Graham C. Hunter, pastor of Fullerton Presbyterian church, preached at the union services of the Christian, the Presbyterian, the Methodist and the Baptist churches, at the latter church, last night.

The Rev. Mr. Hunter chose as his topic two texts, "The Seed is the Word" and "The Kingdom of Heaven is Like Unto Leaven," outlining a religious program that would, according to him, bring the Christian's principle of living into every phase of the world's activity, working for the bringing of the kingdom of heaven on earth.

"We have been criticized, we ministers, for bringing the church into politics today, and thus the critics have placed the work of the Christian, and of the Christian apart from life," Dr. Hunter said. "If the church is only concerned with meditation, with prayer and study, then the church has entered on a plane that does not serve humanity. We have an example of that type of church in Russia, another in Mexico; churches concerned with mystical religion.

"There is a place for prayer, a place for meditation and the person who gives all attention to spiritual service is missing a vital part, a most vital part of life. But that must be interpreted in human service, and there the church must not fail."

He severely criticized the attitude of setting back and being contented, and said we must keep ever in quest of truth, that the heaven of the Kingdom of God may be spread throughout, and into every phase of life.

In conclusion, he said, "The man who has had an experience with God, is not afraid, and will not even be afraid if he is defeated, but will continue to fight for right."

The choir of the church, with the director, Reginald Taylor, as soloist, gave a number. Miss Georgia Carroll sang, Mr. Flynn presided at the session. The next union meeting will be at the Methodist church.

REPORT RESULTS OF C.C.C. WORKERS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28.—(up)—Tangible results accomplished by CCC camp workers are revealed in a report just announced by S. B. Shaw, U. S. regional forester and co-ordinator for California.

The report on work of 128 conservation camps shows 381 miles of forest roads built, 379 miles of telephone line constructed, 106 buildings erected, and 2,599 acres of public camp grounds cleared.

BURGLAR GETS $200 FROM HIDING PLACE

Few burglars would think of looking under a piano for money but $200 in a clear box was taken from that unusual hiding place by a thief who entered the home of George Vech, Chestnut and Valencia streets, between 2 and 3 p. m. Saturday.

Vech reported to the sheriff's office that a screen had been cut to gain entrance to a bed room. The only thing missing was the clear box, which was filled with small bills and currency.

Children Take Part In Program

FULLERTON, Aug. 28.—Children were entertained at the meeting of Order of the Eastern Star, Fullerton chapter, No. 191, Saturday night, at Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Evelyn Goodsell was program chairman. Gene and Louise Goble, of Santa Ana, were two entertainers. Louise and Gene presented a piano solo, and accompanied for the other numbers.

Alice Bacon, also of Santa Ana, presented a soft shoe and tap dance group, and Betty Lee Williamson presented a song and dance number.

HIGH SCHOOL, COLLEGE WORK TO BEGIN ON SEPTEMBER 11

FULLERTON, Aug. 28.—Classes in both Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college will open Monday, September 11, for regular sessions.

All preliminary arrangements, registrations and other details will be cared for the week preceding. Teachers will be in class rooms and in registration offices September 5, and during the following week.

The bus schedules, with the Placentia Union district eliminated, are arranged, and will run trial routes September 5, leaving the school at 12:30 p. m., when girls for the big and little sister party will be picked up and brought to the school to be introduced to the other girls and to get acquainted with the campus and learn of location of class rooms.

The Girls' league, Mildred Gallagher, president, is sponsoring the annual get acquainted party, as usual. The party opens at 2 p. m. Provision will be made for return trips of the bus.

According to Louis Plummer, principal, no new teachers have been employed this year. In order to reduce the expense and to maintain a minimum tax rate, teachers volunteered service of part time, and the staggering of time permitted the old force to remain employed.

Another annual event, scheduled for the teachers, is the reception, to be held this year at Placentia Round Table clubhouse, Friday, September 8. It will be an evening dinner affair.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The diver had been waiting long. Said he, "I hope that nothing's wrong. That little fellow, Duncy, said he'd find my treasure chest."

"I must get it at any cost. I need the gold that I have lost. Well, I will wait a little while. The lad will do his best."

"I made it very clear that he should jerk the rope, to signal me. I haven't felt a thing yet, but I still have lots of hope."

And then the old man closed his eyes. Of course he didn't realize that he was going to fall asleep, while clinging to the rope.

The treasure chest, far, far below, was all tied up and set to go. "Hey, wait, before you give the signal," Scouty loudly cried.

"I'd like to get out of the sea. If you're all game to go with me, I would suggest that Duncy, on that big chest, take a ride."

"Then he will meet the diver, who can likely tell us what to do, to get out of the water. What do all you Tynmites say?"

"A great plan," Goldy shouted. "Gee! I, too, have grown tired of the sea. If I could have one wish, I'd wish that we'd get out today."

The other Tynmites agreed, so Duncy said, "Well, all I need to do is give the rope a jerk and then hang on real tight."

"The diver was so kind before, I know he will be kind some more. Wait here until you hear from me. I'll soon be out of sight."

He pulled the rope and jumped aboard. "He's off," one of the Tynmites roared. The jerk woke up the diver, who was tickled as could be.

"Here's where I get my chest," he cried, "and all my gold will be inside." Then he began to pull the big chest up out of the sea. (Copyright, 1933, NEA Service, Inc.)

DANCE HELD AT NEWPORT FOR REGATTA GROUP

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 28.—Starboard sailors and others from various yachting centers of America were entertained at the Newport Harbor Yacht club Saturday night at a dinner dance, as one of the features of entertainment being tendered at various coast points to competitors in the international starboard regatta taking place at Long Beach.

Most of the 16 starboard skippers and crews in the regatta were present, and five of the crews were presented with prizes for taking first, second or third place in the first two days' races.

D. F. Axelson, commodore of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, presided, and Dr. Albert Solland, the first commodore of the club and present staff commodore, was toastmaster. James M. Webster, secretary of the Newport Harbor starboard fleet, introduced the visiting starboard contestants.

Gold plates were presented to the following leaders in the second day's races yesterday: Adrien Iselin II, skipper of the Western Long Island Sound entry's Ace, and his crew, E. V. Willis, who won first place in the day's race; R. G. Smith, skipper, and J. M. Winterbottom, Texas, who were second, and H. F. Beardslee, skipper, and Tom Webster, crew of the local Newport Harbor entry, Moira, third.

H. M. Dowsett, of Honolulu, chairman of the International Regatta committee, presented plates also to Edwin Thorne and London K. Thorne, skipper and crew, respectively, of the Mist, entry of the Great South Bay, N. Y., club, who were winners Friday, but had not yet received their trophies.

RELATIVES GUESTS AT TUSTIN DINNER

TUSTIN, Aug. 28.—The hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sauers on Yorba street was the setting for a delightful celebration recently, when relatives were entertained at a charmingly appointed 6:30 o'clock dinner.

The affair was in observance of the birthday anniversaries of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Owen, son-in-law and daughter of the hosts, and the 19th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sauers.

A pink color scheme was used by the hosts, with pink tapers, flowers, nutshells, and other details in this shade, adding to the attractiveness of the dining table. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Sauers and son, John Vernon, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Owen and baby daughter, Paulene, of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Suddaby, of Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Suddaby are planning to leave by rail next week for a visit with relatives in friends in Iowa. They will return in about three weeks by automobile.

HUNDREDS SEE MOTORBOAT RACES AT WEST NEWPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 28.—Hundreds of people thronged Newport island and the adjacent beaches yesterday afternoon, when the West Newport Yacht club staged its bi-weekly amateur outdoor motorboat races. Roger Swafford, well known as a winner of many races in the east, was an entrant. He made the fastest lap for the day but failed to place with the winners because motor troubles held him back on the start. First place was taken by Ed Q. Smith, second by Jim Lowe, and third by Milton Prehm. The winner's cup was presented by Ralph Maskey, fleet commodore of the club. Robert Cutler, club secretary, acted as starter. A Sam Kinsfather was judge, Gordon B. Findlay, vice commodore of the club, was chairman of arrangements.

A field of eight entries went in to the race which lay over a course of eight times around the island, a distance of six and three-quarters miles. The winners came in within a space of 38 seconds at the finish.

Findlay announced that the next race will be held in two weeks over the same course.

Coast Highway Graded

Grading on the Coast State Highway for 4.4 miles between Barnett avenue and Balboa avenue in San Diego City has been completed by the state at an approximate cost of $93,200, according to a report reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California. Contract for paving this section of road has just been awarded, says the report.

ATES PAYS $50 ON SPEED COUNT

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 28.—Roscoe Ates, stuttering comedian of the films, apparently was too busy to appear before Judge Fred Warner on a speeding charge last week. He was represented by an auto club employee, who paid the $50 fine assessed by the judge.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When Special Investigator Dundee is summoned to the house of Juanita Selim, murdered during a bridge party, he orders the guests to take the places they occupied during the playing of the "death hand" when Nita was killed. Ralph Hammond, in love with Nita, is the only guest missing.

Flora Miles says she was in the guests' lavatory, and found the door unlocked. She went to the door, Nita's closet, proving she is lying. She admits she went to the closet to recover a note sent to Nita, which she thinks is from her husband. Nita comes in while she is in the closet, and she hears a bang or bump, fears she is to be discovered, and faints, recovering consciousness when she hears screams of discovering the body.

Dundee, finding it suspicious that Clive Hammond stayed in the salaried room of the Beale, his fiancée, instead of coming in to speak to his hostess when he arrived, asks him when he last saw his fiancée prior to her death. Hammond refuses to reply, but Dundee says he knows the answer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Then why ask me?" Hammond shrugged, but his red-brown eyes flickered toward Polly Beale.

"I thought perhaps you could give me a little additional information," Dundee soothed him. "You see, it happens that I saw you, Miss Beale, and another young man come into the Stuart House dining room about half-past one today, just when I was thinking of lunch for myself."

"The mysterious 'other young man' was Clive's brother, Ralph Hammond," Polly Beale cut in brusquely.

"Your decision to lunch with your fiancée and his brother was quite a sudden one," Dundee asked courteously. "Just when did you change your mind about Mrs. Selim's luncheon party at Breakaway Inn, Miss Beale?"

"The tal girl threw up her manly cropped chestnut head. 'There is nothing at all sinister or even queer about it, Mr. Dundee! I was on my way to the luncheon when I decided to drive past Nita's house, on the chance that she might like me to drive her over.'"

"Then you didn't know that Mrs. Dunlap had already arranged to meet Mrs. Selim downtown this morning and to take her to the Inn?" Dundee asked, with his greatest casualness.

"No! I didn't hear of the arrangement," Polly answered decidedly.

"You were a close friend of Mrs. Selim's, perhaps?" Dundee prodded.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR JUBILEE IN GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 28.—Further plans for the rebuilding jubilee scheduled for September 3 have been made by a committee. The business district will be decorated under the direction of Ed Isenberg. Decorations are being made by a committee from the American Legion auxiliary and will be arranged on Euclid avenue from Acacia street to Ocean avenue, and on Ocean avenue from the Chamber of Commerce building west to the Pacific Electric tracks.

The finance committee has met with a generous response in soliciting funds for the event, and every indication points to a record breaking crowd at the celebration, committee men reported.

A band stand is being erected in the center of town and a loud speaking system will be installed. The sports for young people will start at 2 o'clock and last until 3 o'clock, with prizes awarded the winners. Entertainment and music will be furnished by the Happy Chappies and other radio artists. It is announced. It is hoped to have a number of movie stars present from 3 to 4 o'clock. The introduction of guests and speaking will take up the time from 4 to 5 p. m. Spanish troubadours will furnish music continuously during the afternoon.

The local band, recently organized under the direction of A. D. Brownell, will present a concert from 7 to 8:30 o'clock. From 8 to midnight a dance will be held in the Legion hall under the auspices of the local post.

Free orange juice will be served throughout the day by girls dressed in Spanish costumes.

To complete plans, the various committee will meet in the Chamber of Commerce hall next Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Seal Beach Girl Gets President's Thanks For Poem

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 28.—A 13-year-old Seal Beach girl has received recognition from the White House for a poem composed by her in praise of the Roosevelt administration. The girl, Jean Yokem, received a personal letter from the President extending thanks for her interest and praising her literary ability.

Luncheon Held In San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Homer Pendergrass, of 21 Centre, house guest of her sister, Mrs. Thomas F. Murphy, Mrs. hosts in the home of the latter at 1 o'clock luncheon Friday. Flowers in harmonizing shades furnished table decorations for the four course luncheon, which was followed by an afternoon of bridge.

The guests included Miss Emma Wierk, Mrs. Millie Hoops, Mrs. I. M. Bartow and her house guests Miss Ella Vogel and Mrs. Schabel, of New York; Mrs. Morrell, Mrs. Thomas F. Murphy, Mrs. William J. C. Henderson, Mrs. William Lawless, Mrs. Virgil Westbrook, Mrs. John Riley, Mrs. Thomas F. Murphy Jr.

The hostess awarded prize for high score to Mrs. Thomas F. Murphy, an Italian ball. Prizes for table scores, dainty handkerchiefs in pastel colors, were won by Mrs. Schabel, Mrs. Hoops and Mrs. Westbrook.

Football Captain Gets Scholarship

BREA, Aug. 28.—Morris Bergman, graduate of the Brea-Olinda Union High school and captain of the varsity football team, has received a scholarship from the University of Arizona. Bergman will leave here September 10, and will enter school September 12.

CLUB ENTERTAINED

SAN CLEMENTE, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Clara Hogeland was hostess to the Contract-Dinner club at her home recently. The group included Mesdames Patti Divil, Mabel Hymer, Edna Hauser, Betty Cohen, Evelyn Lane, Nell Fats, Mrs. E. L. Updike of Cananes, Mexico, who is the house guest of Mrs. Hogeland, and the hostess. First and second high scores were held by Mrs. Hogeland and Mrs. Updike.

called upon Clive Hammond and then had forced Ralph to accompany her....

"Do you know, Miss Beale, why Ralph Hammond did not keep his engagement with Mrs. Selim this afternoon? Or rather, his promise to appear for cocktails and to be Miss Crain's partner for the rest of the evening dinner and dance at the Country Club?"

"I do not," Polly said crisply. "Hammond?"

"Neither do I," Hammond retorted angrily.

"Then it was not to discuss Ralph Hammond and his affairs, that you beckoned Miss Beale to meet you in the solarium upon your arrival?"

"It was not!"

A shade too much anger and emphasis, Dundee decided. And he wished heartily that Strawn's detectives would not delay much longer in bringing the missing young man into this already imprisoned examination.

OPEN LA HABRA GRADE SCHOOLS SEPTEMBER 18

LA HABRA, Aug. 28.—September 18 is the date set for the opening of the La Habra grammar schools this year, while the high school work will begin a week earlier, on September 11. Pupils of the Fullerton Union High school will begin registering Tuesday, September 5, at which time schedules will be arranged and lockers assigned, that the real school work may begin on the 11th. A party for high school scholars will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday, September 2. This is an annual affair and is a welcome party for the freshmen girls conducted by the Girls' league of the junior and senior classes.

GARDEN GROVE TO HOLD NRA MEETING

GARDEN GROVE, Aug. 28.—A special called meeting of the chamber of commerce has been set for Tuesday at the Blue Bird cafe, on Ocean avenue, when George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, will explain the requirements of organizing the NRA in a county of this size. Luncheon will be served at noon.

LEAVE FOR ISLANDS

TUSTIN, Aug. 28.—Motoring to San Pedro Friday, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Marchant and daughter, Miss Mildred Marchant and grandchildren, Sam, Lenora and Donald, have left for Mr. and Mrs. William Caldwell and children, Mary, Jimmie and Billie, who called at the home on the S. S. "Maryland" for their home in the Hawaiian Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell and family have been guests of Mrs. Caldwell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Strong, of Santa Ana.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at Bixby park. Those present, other than the Marchant family, were Miss Frances Easterbrook, of Long Beach, who has been their houseguest for the past few days; Mrs. Ruth Reiner, of Mrs. Stephen Easterbrook and son, Gerald, all of Long Beach.

MURDER A Bridge

enough for you, you can think what you damned please!"

"I think we are all getting a little too tired, Mr. Dundee," Penny Crain suggested, almost humbly in her weariness.

"I'm truly sorry," the young detective apologized. "But I can't leave things like this.... Mr. Drake, you have said you walked over from the Country Club. You must have approached the house from the driveway side, the side of the house which contains Mrs. Selim's bedroom.... Is that right?"

"More or less, except that I skirted the house rather widely and arrived from the road, stepping upon the front porch, and walking directly into the hall, saw no one outside or near the house when I arrived," Drake answered, with less than his usual naivete.

"And saw no one running away across the meadows?" Dundee pressed.

"No one at all," Drake retorted. "I wish to God I could truthfully say that I saw a gunman, with a mask and a smoking revolver, skulking through the wildflowers, but the absolute truth is that I saw no one."

"Thank you, Mr. Drake.... Now—Mr. Sprague, of New York."

Sprague's nervously twitching face reddened darkly. "I—I took a bus. I have no car of my own. I got off the bus on Sheridan Road, at the entrance to Primrose Meadows."

NO POINT IN EQUIVOCATION

The people are urged very strongly to trade exclusively with the men or with the firms which display a "blue eagle." And this exclusiveness is so emphasized that there is only one conclusion to which people can come, and it means that those who do not display the blue eagle, will be forced to join in the NRA because of this "boycott."

The same ones who are urging this declare this is not a boycott. What is the need of such foolishness as that? Why should our representatives equivocate? There is no sense, to use the language of the street, in trying to "kid" ourselves, or attempting to "kid" other people. When there are two people to trade with, and one of them displays the sign, and the other does not, and we ask people to pledge themselves to trade only with those who display the sign, its moral and its legal implications, if it is a legal document we are signing, means by the same reasoning, when we trade with the one, we refuse to trade with the other.

Will Rogers suggested that we might not know the reasons why the person was unable to sign up. This is true. But reason or not, as the matter is going to be put over, Mr. Johnson urges exclusive trading with those who are joining in. Those who are campaigning for this have been urged to declare to any one raising the question, that of course no one will be harmed by joining in with the government on a program.

We must remember, of course, that there is no guarantee on the part of the government that any individual or firm will be able to make a profit, under the NRA. We are not urging that the boycott is not wise or right. We are simply insisting that we cannot deny that we are using it. It may be the force that it is necessary to use, but because a man uses the Latin language for water and calls it "aqua pura," he mustn't say that he didn't mean water, and that he isn't using the word "water." Let us face the facts and not evade them.

We believe there is infinitely greater value to be gained from joining in, in any case, even though it will result in individual hardship. But we do not propose to make the conditions which confront any man or firm more difficult than they are at present.

WOMEN AND WORK

Some years ago a prominent Massachusetts man left a fund of $25,000 to any college which would offer a course on the dangers to society of a growing feminism. Most of the colleges declined the gift, but Princeton has recently accepted a part of the gift on the conditions named.

Just how the university will make use of the money to keep within the terms of the will is not easy to see. But one of the qualities of a university is to find ways and means to do most anything that it wants to do. Harvard has a fund, the income of which is to be used to prove that the Pope of Rome is the antichrist described in the book of Revelation. Some years ago a noted Yale professor delivered a lecture on that foundation on "The Validity of Congregational Ordination."

It may be that in accepting the gift, Princeton has found a way in which the money can be used, and yet come within the terms of the will. Perhaps it may be found in the present agitation to pull women out of industry, where they have come to occupy a place of prominence, and send them back to the care of children, the cooking of meals, and the general performance of household tasks.

In these days of unemployment, the women in industry have taken many of the jobs once performed by men. If they were all taken out of industry, there certainly would be more jobs for men. But what of the equality of the sexes which we have been stressing so much in the last generation? What about the independent-minded women who refuse to become an economic vassal of an employed male?

We fear that there is no retreat possible from the status acquired by the women. They can vote, and they can do everything else once thought to be only for men. What Princeton will do with the money taken, we cannot say. But if the university is honest with the intentions of the man who left the money, we look to see it returned to the trustees of the will. The women will not take a back seat for any one today.

NEW RULES FOR ANNOUNCERS

The Columbia Broadcasting System has issued a new set of rules for their announcers. We have always felt that the "Thank you, Mr. Blank," which follows a speech, and a very poor one at that,—given on an advertising program, is just so much mush. Well, we shall hear no more of that. The radio listener will have to decide whether the speech was good or not. The announcer who says to the unseen audience, "You have just been enjoying," at the close of a program, has been instructed not to think for the listeners. It is somewhat presumptuous for any announcer to say that every one who has listened in has enjoyed the program. Many other overworked phrases are to be banished from the air.

The broadcasting gentry are learning things, and they are destined to learn many more things as the years go by. We are told that sixty-minute programs, which have almost disappeared from the air, are coming back. How often have we listened to a telling program, only to be told at the end of fifteen minutes or half an hour, "You have been listening to," and then been switched on to a program which went to the limit of dullness or cheapness.

An industry in its infancy has much to learn.

Surely radio is learning. Experience and research reveal defects and better ways. This is manifest in every department of human activity. The last dozen years have witnessed, for example, a tremendous improvement in roadmaking, in traffic direction, so that the pleasure of automobile driving has increased many hundred per cent during that intervening period. The same is true of countless other enterprises. Every year makes life richer and more enjoyable. We wonder how far it can go toward betterment in the light of the marvelous improvements of the last few years.

GOVERNMENT WHERE IT BELONGS

Will Rogers was serious last night in his talk representing the NRA. In the course of this discussion he said that the poor man and the rich man were treated alike in Washington. While we would hardly say that this is true, in the light of some of the codes that are being written, in the main it is true.

A few months ago we believed that the seat of the real government was not very far from Morgan's office in Wall Street. We felt that the dictation of our national policies came from New York and not from Washington. We almost were led to believe that these forces were actually stronger than our government.

But there has come a change. Our real government is in the White House and in the halls of Congress. As Rogers says, instead of these fellows getting on the telephone and telling the national administration what to do, they are coming down and asking our government what they, the industrial leaders or financiers, can or must do. It is wholesome. It is worth while. It helps our individual self-respect; it increases our regard for our institutions and our flag.

Mechanized Astronomy

Christian Science Monitor

That picturesque figure huddled at his telescopic eyepiece under a chilly dome, scanning winter skies, belongs to a passing epoch; the dome itself is giving way in much important work to garagelike structures with sliding roofs that house the tireless photographic instrument of the modern observatory. "Visual astronomy is practically dead with the exception of certain observations still made by eye in the fields of meteoric and variable star activity," said Dr. Harlow Shapley of Harvard Observatory in a recent lecture on a century of progress in a recent astronomical research.

Automatic control of telescopic movement through electric motor drives designed to compensate for the earth's rotation has won an impregnable place in observatory technique. Availability of the radio makes it unnecessary for many, an observatory to spend the energies of its staff in checking time by star transits; and the photographic plate has outmoded notebook and pencil. Astronomy has become highly mechanized, but if the poetry of old methods has been relegated to history, the revolutions of the new technique have many times repaid for abandonment of earlier ways and means.

The sacrifice of picturesque is always calling for readjustment of ideas to the new era. As one looks below the surface, compensations appear. Improved methods add the professional astronomer to an untold degree, but they also reveal fresh wonders to the layman. On a single photographic plate hundreds of tiny dots representing island universes in remote space may be identified so that the veriest tyro can take off his mental hat on this threshold of the skies and thank mechanism for showing him sights of incomparable impressiveness. Out of what sometimes looks like a frenzy of instrumentation come results which not only enrich the lore of astronomy but also stimulate the imagination of the man in the street and broaden his appreciation of the cosmic mysteries.

A Fraternity

San Diego Union

The purpose of the Mexican-American International fraternity, now organizing, is to destroy all trace of unfriendly meaning in the unseen boundary line between the two countries.

The fraternity proposes to educate Americans by a first-hand, friendly contact with language, personalities, laws and customs below that boundary line. It proposes to educate Mexicans by a similar contact with affairs above the border. It proposes to perform the function which a Mexican would gladly perform for an American friend, or which an American would perform for a Mexican friend.

The people on the two sides of this unseen line are neighbors, but too often they cross the line without meeting friends on the other side.

Americans go south of the line to buy, to sell, to negotiate or travel or play out if they employ a guide to the Mexican way of doing things, the arrangement heretofore has been made upon a business basis. The new organization would give them guidance upon a basis of friendship, not for an immediate fee, but to establish a long-term friendship.

Mexicans coming across the line for business or pleasure, have found the American way of doing things particularly difficult, since there has been little effort on this side to learn the southern language, to arrange, explain and manage contacts for the benefit of the Mexican visitor. The new fraternity would remedy some of that neglect.

Both groups of neighbors have much to gain from this new effort, not so much from additional dollars of trade as from new ease and security and enjoyment in the relations which proximity makes natural.

Excitement in Poetry

New York Sun

Sticking up for his own trade, John Masefield, the British poet laureate, told his audience at the Welsh Eisteddfod that the world longs for poetry because of the excitement that it brings, but accepts substitutes for lack of poetry. How apostrophically now the man of encyclopedic memory might quote poetry! For the dissenters from the NRA or the reluctant converts: "Like an eagle caged I pine." For the enthusiastic supporters: "But flies an eagle flight, bold and forth on." For those who have to administer the law: "The eagle suffers little birds to sing." For those finally assembled on Labor Day: "That eagle's fate and mine are one."

There is little excitement but plenty of patness in the lines quoted. And with all possible respect for the poet laureate, is what most readers of poetry or verse seek, a few rhythmic lines that will describe a situation or a predicament or an emotion or a longing better than the thoughts of the thinker. That is why nearly everybody who owns a pocket memorandum book carries in it two or three dog-eared clippings of highly perishable verse. That is why readers seek to identify poems from tags carried in their minds over many a year. Were an ancient Welsh bard to come to life before a Broadway crowd, excitement and poetry would be found together for a moment. Most of the time, however, poetry has to live a sober life as the handmaiden of enlightenment, with a special gift for throwing a clear and pleasant light over places otherwise dimly seen.

Great Idea, These Penthouses!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

LINES BY A REACTIONARY

When science takes charge of your diet,
As I learn that it must, before long,
When a capsule of rice
Twice a day will suffice
To keep a man husky and strong,
You will save many valuable hours
And equally valuable time;
You won't need to brood
On the high cost of food;
You can board for a day on a dime.

No more need you waste half an evening
Consuming beefsteak and squash pie;
You may dine when you will
On a single small pill,
Which your needs will completely supply.
The time that you ruthlessly squander
Whenever you sit down to dine,
If devoted to thought
And to scholarship, ought
To make the old intellect shine.

As for me, with a future behind me,
I shall stick by the old-fashioned chow;
An addict I am
To beef, mutton and ham
And I'll not bid farewell to them now.
I shall not nibble pills nor chew capsules,
But, while there remains a supply
Of food fit to eat
I shall sit in my seat
And call for roast duck and mince pie.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

THE TRADE ASSOCIATIONS

The National Industrial Recovery Act provides for a new kind of relationship between government and industry.

It is the purpose of the Federal Government to cooperate with the Trade Associations in the several fields of economic enterprise, with these associations serving as a series of industrial governments and the political government acting as spur, overseer and umpire.

This gives a wholly new national significance to the Trade Associations.

They might well become the basic units of a new economic state, just as our New York, Missouri, and California are the basic units of the old political state.

It becomes important therefore to be sure that the Trade Associations are equal to their new responsibilities as budding industrial governments.

From 1915 to 1919, my professional duties kept me closely in touch with such organizations as the Trade Associations, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the International Chamber of Commerce.

Even then I saw in them the germ of a needed next step in the government of this complicated industrial age.

Although fate has led me into fields far removed from these organizations my interest in their development has remained unabated through the fifteen years since.

And I am today impressed with the fact that the Trade Associations will have to undergo not a little reconsideration of attitude and readjustment of organization if they are to play a constructive role in the new politico-economic partnership Mr. Roosevelt has proposed.

Heretofore they have been largely weapons for contest with the government.

In the future they must become agencies for cooperation with the government.

Heretofore they have rather exclusively represented the single class of employer-manager in business and industry.

In the future they must become more widely representative of all the factors in business and industry.

Both the Trade Associations of employers and the Trade Unions of employees will have to effect far-reaching changes and work out a different relationship before anything like genuine industrial self-government, as forecast by the National Industrial Recovery Act, can be more than a temporary move or a theoretical aspiration.

Tomorrow I shall list some of the weaknesses in the present Trade Association field.

ROCKING THE BABY

The district nurse walked down the street, toward the park. She turned toward the park because, although it was her day off, she wanted to look at the babies as they were rolled along in their carriages. They never look so sweet as then. All washed and fed and comfortable. Ready to go to sleep in the fresh air. Carriages for babies were a great invention. I hope the man who invented them got a prize.

"Goodness. What's the matter with that carriage. Looks as if a hurricane was hitting it. Maybe there's a dog—something—what's the matter? What's making the carriage go like that?"

"The carriage? Going like that? I'm rocking the baby if that's what you mean?"

"You're doing that on purpose? You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Don't you know that you mustn't shake a child like that? Never. And right after his morning feeding too. You're going to make him sick. There. Didn't I tell you? You shook his breakfast out of him. The poor child."

"If you'd mind your own business I'd like it. You frightened him with all your noise. That's why he lost his breakfast. And he has a weak stomach."

"Anybody would have a weak stomach if he was jolted like that. Here. I'll wipe him off and then you let him lie still in his carriage and go to sleep."

"First I must rock him. Then he goes to sleep."

"No. You don't rock him. You let him lie still. How would you like it if somebody rocked you until you were seasick?"

"Seasick? I never was. Always I rock the baby and he goes to sleep."

"You must not rock him any more. I tell you that—"

"Whose baby is it? Yours?"

"No, and it isn't yours. If you don't stop rocking the baby I am going to see his mother. I am going anyway."

It isn't always the nursemaid. I have seen mothers doing the same thing. I have seen a baby rocked so violently that his head hit the top of his carriage but his mother only rocked the harder. It seemed as though she thought there was magic in the spell she was weaving over him. She thought he was growing sleepy when he was dizzy.

A gentle rocking won't injure a baby but it won't do him any particular good either. When it is time for him to sleep he should be made as comfortable as possible, no wrinkles in his clothes, none in the bed under him, the light shaded from his eyes, and left in peace. There is no need for the rocking and certainly none for the violent rocking one sees along the streets and in the parks.

For some time now I have been thinking that all nursemaids and mothers should be qualified. They ought to be forced to take a course in baby care before undertaking the responsibility of caring for a helpless child. We ought to see to it that those who care for children are qualified. It won't do to hitch anybody and everybody to a baby carriage!

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
